Stock Market Publicity Uncovered In Senate Probe

Head of Motion Pictures Concern Will Testify Regarding Publicity

WASHINGTON, May 20.—(UP)—The internationally famous banking house of J. P. Morgan and Co., today protested indirectly to the Senate Banking and Currency committee against implications regarding relationship of the organization with involved financial transactions of United Foods Corporation in Canada and the United States.

Chairman Norbeck received word that a representative of Morgan and Co. desired to be heard by the committee.

Norbeck said an attorney of Morgan and Co. was present at today's hearing during which Walter E. Sachs, president of Goldman Sachs and Co., testified regarding the transactions. An intermediary brought to Norbeck the information that Morgan and Co. desired an opportunity to present their side of the case.

The hearing was recessed today after testimony purporting to show that John J. Levinson, a trader, had paid over a period of a year more than $19,000 to Raleigh Curtis who in 1929 and 1930 wrote for the New York Daily News a market column under the name of "The Traders." William A. Gray, committee counsel, contended Curtis was paid for "puffs" and tips to purchase stock in which Levinson was operating.

Levinson denied that charge, explaining that he and Curtis were good friends and he sought merely to help him by guaranteeing market accounts. It developed that New York state officials had investigated Curtis' column and its relationship with Levinson's trading on complaint of a reader who had bought on one of "The Traders" tips.

Gray produced checks payable to Curtis and these Levinson identified.

It was explained that Curtis no longer conducts the Daily News column nor does it suggest market tips. The hearing will be resumed tomorrow with Harry Warner of Warner Brothers Motion Picture organization subpoenaed to testify regarding alleged publicity in connection with deals in which he made $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 in Warner stock.

ROOSEVELT GAINING 65 PENN. DELEGATES

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 20.—(UP)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York today appeared to have as many as 65 of Pennsylvania's 76 votes in the Democratic presidential convention.

This strength was indicated at the reorganization of the Democratic state committee when Warren Van Dyke, head of the Pennsylvania Roosevelt for President league, was elected state chairman.

HOUSE PASSES RESOLUTION TO OPEN PAYROLLS

Warren Measure Provides Records Be Kept Open to Public Eyes

WASHINGTON, May 20.—(UP)—

The house today unanimously passed the Warren resolution providing that the payroll records of the house be kept open for public inspection.

Congress years ago passed laws governing the civil service employees of the executive departments which provide that not more than two members of the same family may be carried on the civil service rolls. Yet not only Senator Smith W. Brookhart, Repn., Ia., but other well-known senators who may be named later have more than one relative on the rolls, making three of the family altogether—as do many congressmen.

Missouri has an anti-nepotism provision in the state constitution, yet one of Missouri's senators, Patterson, Repn., and nine of the 16 representatives have or have had within the last year members of their family on the payroll. One has an aged father-in-law, one who has never been in Washington, though the congressman says the money is used for hiring other clerks.

Iaho has an anti-nepotism law, passed in 1929, but Senator John Thomas, Repn., until some months ago had first his daughter and then his sister on the payroll, the latter being an assistant bank cashier in the senator's bank.

Utah passed a law against employment of relatives a year ago but the entire Utah delegation in congress, excepting Senator Smoot, Repn., have relatives on the rolls, or at least until a few days ago. Senator Smoot also was in this group until some months ago. He is a story in himself, as will appear in these dispatches soon.

Mississippi passed an anti-nepotism law in 1926, yet some members of the Mississippi delegation have relatives on the rolls. Nevada is another anti-nepotism state. Her one congressman, Samuel Arentz, carried both his wife and young son on the rolls at one time—the wife as a clerk and lad as a page.

So the list goes, indicating that congress is trailing far behind many states in the matter of cleaning up its own payroll and ending the racketeering in employment of relatives. The pending bill of Representative J. R. Mitchell, Dem., Tenn., to stop the practice has been given the thumbs down sign. The leaders have come around to permitting the public to see who they are appointing to the government payroll. They regard that as a great forward step, and one of those at a time is about all the traffic can bear in the house.

Chairman Warren of the accounts committee which recently reported the anti-nepotism bill, presented the measure, asking unanimous consent for its consideration and passage.

Not a single member took the floor to oppose the bill, the whole transaction taking little more than a minute.

As the House was voting on the resolution, it became known that Speaker John N. Garner has removed his, Tully C. Garner, from the House payroll.

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—The matrimonial seas continued to churn today for Earl Burnett, orchestra leader, despite the fact he and his second wife, Kathryn, have become reconciled and Mrs. Burnett has called off her divorce suit filed last week.

Mary McNearney Burnett, wife No. 1 of the musician, told Superior Court Referee Will that her former husband was $1600 in arrears in his alimony, whereupon Presiding Judge Archibald issued a bench warrant for Burnett's arrest on a charge of contempt of court.

Burnett and his wife were reported on their way to Chicago today.

Sentence Of Death Is Joke to Him

NEW YORK, May 20.—(UP)—William Turner, 23, convicted of killing a man in a speakeasy, appeared to think his sentence of death was a joke.

"Imagine my embarrassment," he observed with a wink when sentence was pronounced.

In the course of this trial, he interrupted proceedings several times by announcing, "I want to burn." At one time, he played solitaire in the courtroom.

Reminded by the judge who told him the proceedings against him were serious, he retorted:

"Whaddya want me to do, sit around and cry about it all day?"

U. S. CHAMBER OUTLINES PLAN OF PROSPERITY

Proposals Presented Before Meeting of Body in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—(UP)—A committee of nine prominent members of the United States Chamber of Commerce today studied prohibition with a view to submitting a referendum on the question to member bodies.

Appointment of the committee followed decision of wet and dry members to refer the question to members rather than commit the national body to a definite stand.

The member chambers will ballot on continued enforcement, repeal, and several plans for modification.

The committee was appointed by President Siles H. Strawn of Chicago of the chamber's annual convention in session here.

It will report to the chamber later.

A program for restoring prosperity to the nation was outlined by Henry I. Harriman, Boston, chairman of the board of the New England Power association and nominee for presidency of the chamber.

"Our agricultural and industrial plant," he said, "is now capable of producing all the commodities required to maintain a standard of living equal to that enjoyed in 1923 by a family with an income of $5,000."

His program included:

1. Revision of banking laws to permit control of credit against inflation in times of speculation and deflation in times of depression.
2. Guaranteeing deposits in national banks for one to two years.
3. Amendment of anti-trust laws to permit industries to regulate over-production and disastrous price-cutting.
4. Amendment of the federal trade commission act to permit associations to govern individual industries, subject to federal supervision.
5. Permitting business to establish an economic council to consider problems affecting all industry.
6. Adoption of a national agricultural policy pointed toward reduction of farm areas and other control of production.
7. Reduction of hours of labor.

FLEET TO REMAIN IN PACIFIC WATERS

WASHINGTON, May 20.—(UP)—Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, today announced that ships of the scouting force would remain on the west coast until October 1.

Pratt said the decision to keep the Atlantic fleet in Pacific waters was based upon the desire of the navy department to have the entire United States fleet operate as a single unit. He said such a move would result in economies and increased efficiency.

"Jess Water" Instead Of "Jess Whiskey"

BUTTE, Mont., May 20.—(UP)—A lone defendant appeared in police court.

"I must be guilty or I wouldn't be here," he told the judge. "But, Judge, I don't remember none of the circumstances whatever."

The charge was drunkenness and the defendant gave the name of Jess Whiskey.

"Jess Whiskey, eh?" mused Judge L. A. Buckley. "Well, from now on let it be 'Jess water' for you. Case dismissed."

400 VETERANS OF WORLD WAR AT ST. LOUIS

Arrive in Five Box Cars En Route to Capital to Demand Bonus

ST. LOUIS, May 20.—(UP)—Four hundred World War veterans, enroute from Oregon to Washington to present demands for an immediate bonus, ran roughshod over the pleadings of railroad officials today and reached St. Louis in five box cars, commandeered from the Washab railroad.

The box cars were taken over in Council Bluffs, Ia., and were attached to a St. Louis bound freight train by a reluctant train crew.

The veterans won the right to pass through Illinois enroute to Cincinnati despite the objections of the Baltimore and Ohio and the Pennsylvania railroads.

Officials of the two roads wired Governor Louis L. Emerson of Illinois in an effort to stop the veterans. Emerson turned the request over to Walter Moody, chief of the state highway police, who refused it.

Moody said the veterans had been orderly all the way from Portland, Ore., and that furthermore they were not interfering with state highways, off which he declared his jurisdiction did not extend.

ENDS LIFE AFTER LOVERS' QUARREL

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—(UP)—Eudora Winters, 16-year-old high school girl, took poison after a quarrel with her sweetheart last night, returned to a dance hall and danced until she collapsed, police said today after questioning her at an emergency hospital, where she died a short time later.

Says Party Is Booster For Hoover

Charges Actions of Bourbons Kicking Hoover Back Into Office

WASHINGTON, May 20.—(UP)—Charging that Senate Democrats who support tariffs are "kicking Hoover upstairs so fast he looks as if he was going up in an aeroplane," Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, today delivered a second and more bitter attack on the import duties contained in the 1932 revenue bill.

"We sit here and debate a tariff bill while every man in the country has his eyes on us and asks us to balance the budget," Tydings shouted after blocking another attempt at a vote on the bill, which the Senate has debated two days without progress.

"Not as a Republican or as a Democrat, but as leader of the country, if the President gives out a statement against these items he will gain a million votes overnight."

The Democrats are kicking Hoover upstairs so fast he looks as if he was going up in an aeroplane.

"It is perfectly evident now that in the midst of this tariff battle, it would only take a word to the leaders, a statement to the country * * *

"Any man with good eyesight, good ears and a reasonable amount of intelligence can see that if these items are passed, a motion to reconsider will be entered, and we will debate it over and over and over again."

The Maryland Senator, who once before criticized the Senate for allowing itself to reach an impasse on the bill intended to balance the budget, told his colleagues: "We need very little help to kill the tariffs as dead as Methuselah."

He said the present lineup was 48 to 47, with 18 Democrats for the duties and 29 against.

"With 10,000,000 unemployed, with the budget unbalanced, with the whole world in chaos, to sit here and debate tariffs!" he exclaimed.

"My state, my state," he said, "if we don't pass a tax bill a panic may ensue which all the tariffs in the world won't stem."

WAR ON GANGSTERS OPENED IN FRISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—(UP)—War on gangsters and extortionists was in full swing here today as police sought to solve the "spot murder" of Luigi Malvese, asserted liquor racketeer, and to prevent further outbreaks of factional killings among North Beach residents.

Malvese was shot to death as he sat in his coupe in front of a North Beach barber shop. Police said they believed he was killed as part of dissension among racketeers for control of the lucrative liquor and extortion "rackets."

None of a score of suspects questioned would give any information, police said. All maintained a close-lipped silence, as did Ramona Crawford, dancer-sweetheart of the slain man.

PUBLIC DEFENDER DENIES SLAYING

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—(UP)—In a long copyrighted statement published by the San Francisco Chronicle, Frank J. Egan, public defender, today denied he was connected with the death of Mrs. Jessie Scott Hughes, his old friend, and bitterly assailed police for what he termed their "bitter animus" toward him.

Egan, except to deny his connection with the Hughes case, did not discuss it.

Mrs. Hughes, whose body was found in the gutter of an exclusive residential street, was believed by police to have been deliberately crushed to death by an automobile and her body taken to the street to make it appear she was killed by a hit-run driver.

Quirk of Fate Kills One Saves Another

CHICAGO, May 20.—(UP)—A quirk of fate today kept Mrs. Della Belluomini, who wanted to die, alive, while Leo Carvis, who wanted to live, was dead.

Mrs. Belluomini, mother of three children, turned on the gas in her home in a suicide attempt. As Carvis walked past the house, the gas ignited in a terrific explosion that killed him instantly under a shower of debris.

But the woman was only slightly hurt in the blast.

KIRANUMA MAY HEAD JAPANESE CABINET SOON

Expected Emperor Plans to Summon Baron to Form New Super Party

TOKIO, May 20.—(UP)—Chances of the formation of a super-party headed by Baron Kichiro Kirauma, leader of the largest Fascist group in Japan, were quoted at four to one today by well informed sources.

It was expected that Emperor Hirohito would summon the Baron shortly and commission him to form a cabinet succeeding that of the assassinated Premier Inukai.

Toyotaro Yui, head of the Industrial bank of Japan and one of the country's leading financiers, was mentioned as new finance minister. Prince Saito was in Tokio but had not visited the emperor in his capacity as advisor to the mikado and last of the elder statesmen.

A spokesman said the government foreign policy would not be changed under a super-party cabinet. He emphasized that the army would support such a regime, and declared the army had no direct connection with the terrorism in which Premier Inukai was murdered.

It was revealed that the foreign office that the government is making vigorous opposition to the plan of the League of Nations Manchurian investigation commission to send an embassy to Gen. Ma Chan-Shan, Chinese militarist now siding with China after alternating his affiliations between China and Japan in Manchuria.

WAIVER OF IMMUNITY IS SIGNED

Condon's Story for Grand Jury Believed Same as He Has Told Previously

TESTIFIES FOR HOUR

Plans to Visit Westchester County and View Rogues Gallery Cards

NEW YORK, May 20.—Dr. John F. Condon, "Jafsie" in the mysterious negotiations for ransom of the Lindbergh baby, was asked to and did sign a waiver of immunity today when he went before the Bronx grand jury to tell of his experiences.

Authorities in touch with the jury's proceedings told the United Press that Condon, the aged educator who paid $50,000 for Colonel Lindbergh, declared he "knew about that" when the waiver was presented.

Expressing his readiness to divulge to the grand jury all he knew of the tragic events which ended in the first major disappointment of the Lindbergh hopes, Condon signed the waiver and proceeded with his revelations.

It was said other witnesses had not been asked to sign a waiver, but authorities refused to comment on the significance, if any, in this procedure.

New Jersey authorities, the Bronx district attorney, Charles B. McLaughlin and Colonel Lindbergh himself have spoken highly of "Jafsie" and his work and Lindbergh sent him a letter of appreciation for his assistance.

Before Jury Hour

Condon testified before the grand jury for more than an hour and when he came away said he planned to go to Westchester county this afternoon and view other pictures in police galleries.

Condon's story for the grand jury is already known in its main points. After revealing in an interview with the Bronx Home News his readiness to spend his own money to aid in returning the baby, Condon received a telephone call from a mysterious person. The contact thus developed grew until Jafsie and the supposed kidnaper were arranging for actual payment of ransom money.

Lindbergh authorized his negotiations and arranged to provide him with money in $5, $10 and $20 bills. According to the Bronx Home News, a district paper of which Jafsie made a confidante, he went to a Bronx cemetery to meet the kidnaper after a series of dramatic and mysterious maneuvers. Lindbergh waited in a car nearby as Condon negotiated. According to the paper, $70,000 was ready for delivery, but Condon by pleading that Lindbergh was not wealthy and found it difficult to pay induced his cemetery contact to accept $50,000. The remaining $20,000 was quickly peeled off the package and left with Lindbergh.

Trips Fruitless

After Condon paid, Lindbergh made flights to the New England coast assuming he would there be put in touch with the baby. These journeys proved fruitless, for the baby even then was lying dead in a wood only a few miles from the Lindbergh home at Hopewell.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, May 20. (To the Editor of The Register:—) See a lot of pictures of Mrs. Vincent Astor and society women of New York taking up nickels on the street to aid anti-prohibition. Such antics as that is sure to win the small town and the farm women over. Yes sir, right over to the opposite side. I bet there is more fool things done for publicity sake that defeat their own purpose than ever aided it. There is but one reason that prohibition won't be repealed, and it's not numbers either. It's because the wrong people want it repealed.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

400 VETERANS OF WORLD WAR AT ST. LOUIS

of 18, into St. Louis freight yards, got only friendly jeers and wise cracks from the former doughboys.

Robbing sleepy eyes and brushing stains of travel off their clothes, the "army" filed out in brisk military fashion and lined up for roll call. The police became alert, half expecting the former soldiers to charge.

To the sharp command of their officers, the pilgrims lined up in squads, platoons and companies, just as they had done in the A. E. F. days. The customary routine was gone through, and then the men fell out and went about their individual tasks.

The "army" is commanded by W. W. Waters, a tall, slender aggressive-looking man in his late thirties, who formerly was in the fruit and canning business in Portland. "I don't know when we'll get to Washington," Waters said, "but we're going to stay there until the bonus bill is passed if it takes until 1945." This is the date when the veterans will be paid unless the bill is passed.

GET PROBATION IN CONNECTION CHICKEN THEFT

Declaring that while he did not believe the stories told by Daniel Garcia, Theodore Wirt and Frank Moreno, accused of burglary, but did not feel like sending the three men to prison for the theft of a few chickens Superior Judge James L. Allen, this morning granted the trio probation for 10 years.

As a term of the probation Judge Allen ordered the three men confined in the county jail for two years. When the jail sentence was pronounced the mother and wife of Wirt burst into tears, and both had to be escorted from the courtroom.

Wirt, Garcia and Moreno were arrested by members of the Orange county fruit patrol for the theft of chickens from a ranch several weeks ago. The men entered pleas of guilty and asked for probation.

In granting probation to the trio Judge Allen said that he did not believe their stories told at the probation hearing and scored them for "not having sense enough to come in and tell the truth" at their probation hearing.

WINNERS OF PULITZER AWARDS

They're prominent among the winners of 1932 Pulitzer awards for outstanding achievements in letters and journalism. Left to right: General John J. Pershing, who wrote "My Experiences in the World War," was adjudged to have written the best book of the year dealing with the history of the United States; John T. McGehee, of The Chicago Tribune, won a prize for the best editorial cartoon; and George S. Kaufman and Morrie Ryskind were co-authors (with Ira Gershwin) of the musical comedy "Of Thee I Sing," which was pronounced the best play of the year.

CONDON TELLS HIS STORY TO GRAND JURORS

Since discovery of the ghastly tragedy, Condon has been active in checking through roguish galleries of New York and Westchester county, and later is to view pictures in Newark, Philadelphia and Jersey City.

So far as revealed, he has not found among the criminals' pictures any likeness of the stranger known as "John" with whom he carried on his negotiations. Hitherto authorities have indicated their belief that this man was either the kidnaper or a fellow conspirator since he possessed the secret sign code used in the original ransom note and also produced a baby night suit which satisfied Col. Lindbergh as belonging to the child.

It has since developed that several people had access to the code, but there has been nothing to suggest that the night suit was other than the Lindbergh child's. In these circumstances, the theory has been:

"Find Jafse's 'John' and you will have the key to this sad riddle of the baby's murder."

Deny Petition In Dismissal Of School Teacher

SAN CLEMENTE, May 20.—Members of the San Clemente grammar school board at a special meeting held Thursday night at the chamber of commerce rooms presented a written statement in which it was stated the board did not care for the resignation of Mrs. Caroline Thompson, Mrs. Ona Johnson, of San Diego, has been engaged to succeed Mrs. Thompson. Last week citizens of the Spanish village met with the board and presented a petition protesting the action of the board in asking for Mrs. Thompson's resignation. The board told the gathering that the matter would be taken under advisement and a decision made at a special meeting. At the session last night the board made known its decision in a letter to Virgil Westbrook who had presented the petition to the board protesting over its action.

SOUTHLAND MAY CONTROL STATE LEGISLATURE

SACRAMENTO, May 20.—(UP)—Don't be too sure that Governor Rolph will not call a special session of the state legislature on the water question this summer.

Just about the time all hands agreed that the governor was unalterably opposed to such a session because he "didn't want to see the program defeated," Rolph threw a ray of sunshine into the camp of those advocating the session.

"If the California Water Resources committee and the joint legislative water committee can agree on a constitutional amendment, I'll call the special session whether the legislators are polled in advance or not," he said.

So now another meeting is planned to get the two bodies together. Heartened by this new development, Southern San Joaquin valley people are turning every stone to get the session called.

Rumors are current that an initiative measure restoring the old population method of apportioning Senate districts is to be circulated during the summer for the November election ballot.

If adopted, it would put the state legislature in control of Southern California, as the state assembly is now in the hands of the south. Assemblymen are chosen on the so-called "federal plan," the balance of power in the lower house resting with counties south of the Tehachapi.

This and That
Political gossip: State Senator Tallant Tubbs is making a whirlwind tour of Northern California in the interests of his campaign for United States Senator.

Congressman Joe Crail, dry senatorial candidate, says all his campaign expenses will be paid out of his own pocket. "If we don't get the new prison site in Southern California, it will not be my fault," says Rolland A. Vandegrift, state director of finance. C. C. Young will never again run for governor of California, says Railroad Commissioner M. B. Harris. Governor Rolph named Mrs. Eliza Shepard, sister of the late Jack London, on the committee to arrange for a child welfare conference in California. Major Frank Barnes, 77, long an employee in the secretary of state's office, has been retired under the new state pension act.

EXPENDITURES FOR ROADS NOT MUCH AFFECTED

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Special to The Register)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 20.—(UP)—Building and improvement of county highways in California hasn't been greatly affected by the present economic situation.

Last year alone, the 58 counties of California spent a total of $30,464,262 for highways, bridges and other road structures, independent of the paved highway program carried on by the state.

This was disclosed in the annual compilation of State Controller Ray L. Riley, showing the detailed payments made by the various counties for the year.

Orange county, the report disclosed, spent a total of $1,317,372 on its highways for the 12-month period. This amount covered salaries and outlays for highways, bridges, etc.

A large part of the county's revenue for highway improvement is derived from the 3-cent tax per gallon on gasoline, of which 1 cent is apportioned to counties for maintenance purposes.

A bill prepared for introduction at the 1933 session of the legislature proposes that the county share of the 3 cent gasoline tax be 11-2 cents instead of 1 cent at present. This, it was explained, would lift part of the county tax burden on property for highway purposes.

WOMAN'S CLUB HEARS ADDRESS ON BROWNING

Mrs. William Loughboro also spoke on the state convention. Announcement was made that a card party will be held in the La Rue building in Cypress on the evening of May 27.

Guests at the club meeting were Mrs. M. M. Carpenter and Mrs. O. P. Eubank of Cypress.

The Blue Monday Card club will meet next Monday for its regular meeting.

SPRING FLOODS HAMPER WORK ON HOOVER DAM

a locomotive crane was at work removing debris from in front of the pilings in an effort to keep it from washing away.

The trestle was used to haul gravel from the Arizona to the Nevada side of the stream, but officials said there was sufficient material stored to continue work should it be destroyed.

A few miles above the dam site, the Virgin river boiled into the main stream, adding 10,000 second feet to its flow and sending a vicious flood toward the dam site, frothing in uncontrolled power.

The Colorado river is normally in flood at this time of year. Aside from the Hoover dam project there is no other property to damage.

ESPAÑOLA, N. M., May 20.—(UP)—Catastrophe threatened today as floodwaters of the Rio Grande river lapped over the top of the dykes which protect this New Mexican village.

Fed by melting snow in the high mountain ranges of Colorado, the Rio Grande has risen rapidly in the last two days. For a time the rise was stopped, but early today it was reported that the water was rising at the rate of a half inch an hour at Embudo, another village a few miles above here.

The 400 residents of Espanola were prepared to flee to the highlands should the dyke break above the town. Another inch rise in the river, it was feared, would bring disaster.

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT

The one thing which you really grieve, which you feel that you are missing, is the one which you actually have, if you will use it, is understanding.

It is true that you do not understand why it might not have been possible for you and your dear one to have finished your earthly tasks at the same time so that you could go on to Paradise together, nor why your dear one might not have remained here longer before entering upon the higher service of Paradise, nor why there must be the pain and loneliness of this separation for a while. There are great mysteries in life and in death.

But you do not understand that God loves you both, that He is caring for your dear one in Paradise, that He will give you strength to complete your work, and that reunion and an eternity together is assured you.

That is enough to give you courage and persistence and peace.

BANDITS GET CASH. GUN IN BEACH HOLDUP

Two bandits secured $26.75 and a revolver from Leo Stamp, attendant at the Arches service station at the intersection of the Coast boulevard and Newport road at 3:45 a. m. today.

The men drove up to the gasoline pumps in a black roadster and inquired the way to San Diego. As Stamp started to give them directions, one of the men pulled a gun and ordered the attendant to give him all the money in the cash register.

After warning Stamp not to make an outcry the bandits raced their car up Newport boulevard toward Santa Ana.

Stamp notified the Newport Beach police department and beach officers in turn asked authorities in neighboring cities to be on the lookout for the men.

One of the bandits was described as being five feet, 10 inches in height, weighing 165 pounds, smooth shaven, 27-28 years old and wearing a light suit and Panama hat. The other was about the same height, weighing 145 pounds and wearing a dark suit.

SHOOTING LAID TO TROUBLE IN BERRY FIELDS

In a statement made to The Register today by Joe McAlma of 1907 West Fifth street, the shooting which took place at his home Wednesday night, when two men attempted to burn a cross on his lawn, was definitely connected with the affair of employment of Filipinos in Orange county.

Although McAlma told The Register that he was of the opinion that the men who attempted to burn the cross were Mexicans, he had told the police they were white men.

"I am sure that they were Mexicans because Mexicans and Filipinos are the only laborers who work in the strawberries here in Orange county. It is not the first time we have had a warning like this. A white does not give us a warning like this."

Police are of the opinion, however, that the men who set the crosses on two different occasions are white men, they stated, who may be attempting to frighten the Filipinos out of the city. McAlma lives in the Filipino district of the city and police said there were some 50 living in the same house where he lives and where the cross was set. A further investigation of the affair was being made today.

McAlma opened fire on the intruders Wednesday night and reported to police that he believed he wounded one of the two men he caught in the yard. The man was limping as he ran down the street and got into a truck which carried him away. McAlma said five shots were fired in a running gun battle between himself and the two men. Other residents of the neighborhood reported some 12 shots fired.

Youth Hurt In Car Crash With Train

Floyd Carl, 15 year old Santa Ana boy, was slightly injured at 10:45 o'clock last night when the car in which he was riding, driven by Walter A. Stutman Jr. of 1001 Newport Boulevard, crashed into a Pacific Electric train at the McFadden street crossing.

The youth was taken to a local physician's office where an injured elbow was treated.

Sick Man Found In Vacant House

A man who gave his name as Walter Evans, a sign painter of Atlanta, Ga., was found ill in a vacant house at Delhi yesterday by Santa Ana police officers. He was given treatment and charged with being a vagrant. Today he was in police court where he was sentenced to 30 days in jail, suspended provided he leave the city immediately.

Witnesses declared the man had been lying in the house for the past two days.

JURY ACQUITS MERRIFIELD AND GRISET

William Grisct, member of a pioneer Santa Ana family, and E. K. Merrifield, former cafe operator at Laguna Beach, were declared not guilty of a serious statutory offense last night by a jury in department one, superior court.

The verdict was returned after more than four hours deliberation on a case that required such testimony that attorneys agreed on an all male jury and the court excluded all minors from the courtroom during the trial.

In the face of testimony introduced by the prosecution the verdict of acquittal was a surprise to Deputy District Attorneys Leo Fris and William Menton who prosecuted the charge against Grisct and Merrifield.

The prosecution presented Chief of Police Floyd Howard and four police officers as their witnesses. Howard and Captain Jess Buckle of the police department told of purported oral admissions by the two men on the night of their arrest. These admissions were repudiated on the witness stand by set and Merrifield.

D. G. Wettlin and Morris Cain, defense attorneys, based their defense on the fact that the men were discussing a business deal in which they were both involved, at the time of their arrest and relied on a group of character witnesses. Included in these character witnesses was the divorced wife of Grisct. Merrifield's wife was scheduled to testify on behalf of her husband but failed to appear in court at the time she was to testify.

MANY AT WORK IN ANAHEIM CITRUS HOUSES

Jobs for 1081 men and women have been provided so far this season since opening the Valencia orange season in the vicinity of Anaheim on April 14, it is revealed in a survey just completed. All association houses in the vicinity of Anaheim now in operation have a combined weekly payroll of between $18,000 and $20,000 which is being put into circulation.

Up to yesterday, a total of 254 cars of oranges had been shipped to eastern and export markets by the seven Anaheim houses. Managers indicated that the total shipments in cars would be boosted to about 300 by the end of the week. With picking and packing expected to continue into November, it is estimated that Anaheim will have shipped around 3500 cars of fruit.

An encouraging note crept into the orange packing circles with the last few days when reports of a 40-cent increase in box prices were received.

The fruit is said to be of better quality than last year with fruit of a better color than for several years, fewer culls, and no loss suffered from frost damage. The crop has advanced toward maturity a month earlier than usual this season, managers reported.

The Rev. Mr. Waddle comes to Santa Ana to succeed the Rev. U. E. Harding, who resigned recently to take over the pastorate of the Paul Rader Tabernacle at Third and Bush streets. The Rev. Mr. Waddle comes here from Phoenix, Ariz., where he served the First Church of the Nazarene for four years. Death, coming after a lingering illness, yesterday claimed the life of Angela Evelyn Enright, 25, wife of Joseph M. Enright of Bakersfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maag, of the well known pioneer Maag family of Orange county. She had been ill for more than a year and a half, succumbing last night to the illness at her home in Olive.

She was the niece of the late George and Joe Maag, who passed away recently, and granddaughter of the late John A. Maag of Fairhaven avenue, Orange, well known Orange county pioneer who died recently. She was also the granddaughter of Libby Meats, Orange pioneer.

A native daughter of California, she was born between Olive and Orange. ## PRESIDENT ENDORSES DRIVE

The V. F. W. "Buddy Poppy" drive for funds for aiding disabled veterans and their families, has been endorsed by President Hoover, as shown in the letter below. Those in charge of the sale in Santa Ana are Fred Slavens and Mrs. Paul Cozad, heads of the V. F. W. post and auxiliary. Poppies will be sold here on May 28.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

Commander-in-Chief,
Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Commander:

I warmly commend the annual "Buddy Poppy" Campaign which is conducted under the auspices of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States as a means of general civilian contribution in the relief work for disabled and needy veterans and their dependents. It not only gives employment to disabled veterans, but also it aids in the maintenance of a National Home for Widows and Orphans of deceased veterans in Eaton Rapids, Michigan.

Yours faithfully,

Herbert Hoover

UNEMPLOYED BALL TEAM ORGANIZED

In preparation for a benefit ball game to be held in the near future with the team composed of members of the Unemployed association of Orange, the Santa Ana Unemployed team is working out daily at the high school diamond.

The game will be held at Eddie Martin's Airport.

Although the line-up has not been fully determined, the work-outs have indicated that the local association will have an excellent aggregation of ball players.

The local organization is open for games with other team in this vicinity and association officials hope that considerable funds will be derived which will go toward providing of food and clothing for the needy unemployed.

TICKETS FOR BENEFIT TO BE SOLD ON STREET

Arrangements were completed today by the Unemployed association of Santa Ana to sell tickets on the streets of the city tomorrow for the play, "Speeders," which will be presented by a cast composed of members of the Little Theaters Guild of Orange county at the local high school auditorium next Wednesday night as a benefit for the needy unemployed. Official permission has been obtained from the police department to stage the ticket sale.

An appeal to the public for support of the movement was issued by officials of the association today, who pointed out that every cent taken in by the sale of tickets will be used to buy food, clothing and shelter for the unemployed.

"Don't forget that the officers and commitment of the Unemployment association are engaged in a huge undertaking, and getting away with it," Secretary E. E. Peck said today. "They are unemployed in name only, for they are the busiest men in the community, working for each other and with each other for the common good, and not one of them receives a cent in compensation."

"The play, 'Speeders,' had an original run in New York of 22 weeks. It is a three-act farce and is worth much more than the amount charged, 27 cents and a can of food. So, watch tomorrow on the streets for the women who are selling tickets, and don't turn them down, for they are trying to help your neighbor and mine."

JOBLESS GET MANY ENJOY FOOD AND CASH CONCERT BY AT TABERNACLE SCHOOL GROUPS

A small truckload of groceries, consisting mostly of canned goods and cereals, and nearly $50 in cash was obtained for the Unemployed association of Santa Ana as a result of the special meeting held last night at the Rader tabernacle by the Rev. E. J. Bulgin, evangelist, especially as a benefit for the association. The food was brought by many of the persons who packed the auditorium last night and the money was obtained by a collection during the meeting.

Swaying the emotions of the audience with his forceful oratory, the evangelist spoke last night on the subject, "How I Would Run Hell if I Were the Devil." The evangelist scored the use of machines in replacing large amounts of labor, citing many instances where one machine has replaced 600 men. Machines make money for men who already have more than they can use, he said, and the machine conditions are caused by "that old hide-bound, lantern-jawed cow of human selfishness."

"Now that old dragon, the devil, was cast out of heaven and his place was found no more in heaven, but he was not sent to hell. The devil is not in hell, you will not find any place in the Bible where it says the devil is in hell. He is in Santa Ana. The devil was cast out into the earth, not into hell. God is not running this world now. To devil got control over it through Adam and Eve. The world has gone wrong, gone haywire."

"Sixty-four billion dollars of American money in the hands of 60 men. Think of it, with thousands of people suffering want and privation. I hope after tonight you will get your theology correct and stop blaming God for conditions which the devil is responsible for. If we get a great revival and put Jesus on his rightful throne we will find the remedy."

The speaker deplored the state of the nation by citing the Lindbergh case and stating that there were 202 kidnapping cases in the nation last year, with only 16 brought back alive.

"One thing I'd do if I were the devil," he said, "is take the Bible out of the public schools because the Bible is the entering wedge of Christianity. My solution of the present-day problem would be better homes, back to the farms, and more little business and not so much big business."

In closing, the evangelist said if he were the devil he would substitute intellect for religion in the pulpit; place highly educated men in the pulpit and have them preach on deep subjects, such as astronomy, botany, navigation, science, etc., and lead away from Christianity and religion.

The musical program presented in the auditorium of the Polytechnic high school last evening, was well received by an appreciative audience. The musical numbers were presented by members of the girls' and boys' glee clubs from Frances E. Willard and Julia C. Lathrop junior high schools, and the Santa Ana P. T. A. Mother's chorus.

The groups were assisted by an orchestra composed of the combined orchestras of both Willard and Lathrop, under the directorship of Miss Esther Jean Davis. They presented as their opening number, "Class Leader" by Wellesley.

Three numbers, "Hall Bright Abode" from "Tanhauser," by Wagner; "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from "Samson and Delilah," and "Morning Prayer," from "Orpheus and Eurydice," were given by the Willard Girls' Glee club, under the direction of Miss Helen Glancy. Miss Helen Holmes, student, accompanied the group, while the solo part in "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" was given by Miss Naomi Sands.

Special applause was won when the curtain rose on 55 smiling members of the Willard Boys' Glee club, and 56 young voices most pleasingly gave the following numbers: "Anvil Chorus" from "Il Trovatore," by Verdi; "Over the Summer Sea," from "Rigoletto," by Verdi; and the "Soldiers' Chorus" from "Faust" by Gounod. Clad in entire white costumes, with black ties, the boys sang their way into the hearts of the audience. This group was directed by Miss Esther Jean Davis, and accompanied by Gladys Campbell.

In the brief intermission that followed, the orchestra gave the selection "At Sundown" by Creighton.

The P. T. A. Mother's chorus then occupied the center of attraction, and gave "Green Cathedral," by Hahn; "Butterfly," by Delibes; and "Reve Angelique" by Rubenstein. Their finished work showed much effort on the part of the group and their director, Miss Frances Hunt Beeson. They were accompanied by Mrs. H. G. Vetherell, and in their last selection, were assisted by George Evans, violin obligato, and the ever-popular Robert Brown, who gave the vocal solo.

Again the orchestra appeared with their selections "May Dance" by Reynard, and "Summer Days" by Norman, this time under the direction of Miss Edith Cornell.

The program was concluded with the colorful opera "The Treasure Chest," by Otis M. Carrington, given by the combined girls and boys glee clubs of Lathrop junior high school. The youthful one-act was directed by Miss Edith Cornell, and Maxine Zolman Bryte, and was especially successful in its voice and costuming effects.

Distilled water, of course, is laboratorily made.

Vadose waters are those more or less recently fallen from the sky (such as rain water, well water, river water, surface spring water, and water from so-called artesian wells).

Juvenile water is the rarest of all—being newly formed by nature's fusion of oxygen and hydrogen deep in the earth, far removed from contamination.

There's One Way To Be Sure

Arrowhead Spring Water is juvenile water—the only juvenile water available commercially in Western cities.

It is pure water. A 2-million acre forest preserve protects its source from contamination. Constant care safeguards its purity—and frequent tests insure it.

It is soft water—not 14, 21 or 30, but 6.95 grains per gallon—just the right amount of natural mineral salts to meet body requirements.

It is most palatable water. Just try it! You'll remember that rare mountain spring of some cherished past vacation.

And, finally, Arrowhead Spring Water costs no more than ordinary bottled surface-spring or well waters. That's an-

Geologist. Just a simple fact-story which we think every woman will want to read.

What is "Pure Drinking Water"?

Most Western drinking water is reasonably "pure"—so far as dangerous germ life is concerned. Certainly Health Authorities are zealous in their efforts to protect you.

But that doesn't mean that all waters are equally pure—nor all alike in meeting body requirements.

There's a great variation in "softness" or percentage of mineral content—ranging from mineral-free distilled water, on the one hand, to as much as 20 to 30 grains-per-gallon, for widely-consumed Western waters.

There's a difference in the kind—and the balance—of minerals present.

There's a difference in "taste" (you can easily detect it). There are even three distinct types of water—distilled, vadose and juvenile—and a wide variation according to the source of waters in the second class.

THERE'S a funny thing about this question of dependable drinking water.

It's such an obvious requirement—so essential to good health—that you'd think every homemaker would be alert to it. Yet investigation proves that few women really know the facts about the water which their families drink.

We would like to cure that situation, so far as Western families are concerned! It is to our interest that you be "hard to please," when it comes to drinking water. That's why we have decided to tell the facts about drinking waters. Not in the scientific terms of the Physician or the

It wasn't a famous orchestra, playing in a great concert hall, the Leopold Stokowski was directing when this picture was taken. BALKAN LEADERS SEE TROUBLE
AHEAD AS DISCONTENT MOUNTS

By NEA Service

DOWN in the Balkan peninsula, which has been one of the "sore spots" of Europe for countless centuries, things are beginning to boil again.

In the first place, King Alexander of Yugoslavia is reliably reported about to "do an Alfonso" and be kicked off his throne and out of his kingdom.

And why all Eleutherios Venizelos, premier of Greece, blandly informed the League of Nations that his country could not pay interest due on its foreign debt, needed a five-year extension on sinking fund payments and would like to have a loan of $50,000,000 in gold.

With this off his chest, the white-haired Grecian leader returned to Athens, informed his parliament that Greece might have to cut interest paid on internal loans 25 per cent and that, since the little nation needed a stable government, the elections were postponed until September. Despite this action, Venizelos' downfall is confidently predicted.

The hoarded premier of Greece is the cat of the European political zoo. He has already been dead politically at least nine times and he may have that many more lives handy somewhere.

Born in Crete in 1864, he came to Greece, became premier in 1911 and has been in and out of that office so frequently since that time that even his most rabid supporters have lost count.

His nation is admittedly in a bad way. Its debt is enormous when compared with its wealth, and taxes are high and the prospect dark generally.

And, unless the League of Nations comes through with that $50,000,000, it looks as if Venizelos will retire again to the background.

King Alexander's case is similar only in that he is likely to lose his power.

The chief trouble in Yugoslavia is that the Croats, Slovenes and Serbs are continually at loggerheads. Taxes, the depression, foreign affairs — everything else is insignificant compared to the intense feeling in that part of Yugoslavia which was formerly in Austria that Serbia is being made the dominant part of the kingdom.

France is particularly interested in a possible overthrow of the government in Yugoslavia, since she counts Yugoslavia as an ally, and has invested vast sums of money there.

Leaders of the anti-Alexander movement contend that the debts incurred by their king while he was ruling as a self-appointed dictator are illegal and if the royal government is overthrown, there is certain to be a movement to wipe these debts off the books by legislative enactment.

At a big pow-wow of students in Belgrade recently, students sang "Alfonso is in Paris, Alexander will soon join him there." And while there may be little poetry in that verse, there may be plenty of truth.

CARDS ENJOYED

MIDWAY CITY, May 20.—A small gathering of 15 friends was entertained by Wheeler Lee Birdwell, South Jackson street, Midway City, recently, when Mr. Birdwell invited the group in for an evening of "500."

Guests spent a pleasant evening about the card tables, the games being concluded with the presentation of rewards to Miss Pauline Birdwell for scoring high among women players, and to Clarence Wasser, holding a corresponding score among the men. Dancing occupied the social period which followed, in the course of which refreshments were served.

Present for the party were the Misses Katherine Beverly, Elnore Millner, Geneva Harris, Juanita Winsell, Pauline Birdwell, Jewell Rogers; Messrs. Clarence Wasser, Melvin Hyle, Henry White, Aden Moore and Alvin Hurt.

Legion Prepares For Observance Of Memorial Day

JOBLESS WILL GET WORK ON VACANT LOTS

ORANGE, May 20.—In the recent unemployed association survey of the city, more than 60 vacant lots were listed to be cleared during Clean-up week, according to Robert Guin, secretary of the association. Persons having vacant lots to be cleaned have been asked to leave their names at the association headquarters at 120 South Grand street or to call 742 and leave their names.

The cleaning of the lots which is compulsory by city ordinance will be a step toward the beautification of the city for visitors to the Olympic games. It was pointed out by members of the association, who are to sell honey on the 101 highway west of the city. The stand and the honey have been secured but there is a need of pint and half pint jars similar to those which are used as containers for salad dressing. The association will call for these jars, or they may be left at headquarters, it was stated.

On Sunday the ball team of the association will begin a series of games and the team will be open for engagements. The lineup is as follows: Smith, p; Brown, c; Dine, rf; Ahar, lf; Schoning, ss; Campbell, cf; Glover, 1b; Caples, 2b; and Matheny, 3b.

Soup bones and meats of various kinds have been donated to the association and at the present time 35 families a day are being fed. With five dependents to a family, which is the average, it is estimated that 190 persons are being fed daily, from the commissary. The Home Ice company is furnishing ice daily free of charge.

While traveling through Africa, Mr. Jewell said he encountered only the friendliest of people. He collected a spear of each tribe he met and brought back with him 41 specimens of animal life. One of Mr. Jewell's sons, a lad of 12, shot a rhinoceros, and the skin was mounted and is now in the Jewell home. The other son of the family, a youth of 16, shot a lion and the trophies include gazelles and deer of many kinds.

A decision was reached that Orange Legionnaires should work on the ticket sale for the Boy Scout Jamboree, the funds from which are to be used to send boys to camp who otherwise could not go. It was stated that the cost per day for each boy would be one dollar. The Orange post will join with the Elks lodge in the observance of Flag day, it was announced.

CRAIG SEEKING RE-ELECTION TO ASSEMBLY

Assemblyman Edward (Ted) Craig, who has represented Orange county in the assembly of the state legislature for the past four years today formally announced that he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for the assembly from the seventy-fifth district at the August primaries.

This newly created district takes in the second and third supervisorial districts comprising a new district in Orange county. This district was created by the Craig Reapportionment bill giving to Orange county two assemblymen in place of one. The seventy-fourth district takes in the first, fourth and fifth supervisorial districts.

Assemblyman Craig was made chairman of the reapportionment committee and not only rendered service to Orange county but to the entire Southern California area in his work on the important committee. Included in the reapportionment of representatives, under the terms of the Craig bill Orange county was placed in a new congressional district—the nineteenth, with San Bernardino and Riverside counties with whose problems Orange county is more closely tied up than with the old set-up.

Craig states that he will run upon a platform of judicious economy—that he will at all times foster legislation beneficial to Orange county and oppose any detrimental legislative efforts opposed to the county's best interest.

For the past two years Craig has been mayor of Brea, but this year retired from the city council of Brea. Born in Los Angeles in 1896, Assemblyman Craig has been a resident of the Brea-Olinda district since 1900. ## COUNTY SCHOOL CHORUS TO GIVE CONCERT HERE NEXT FRIDAY EVENING

The County Schools Chorus is to present a concert the evening of May 27 at 8 o'clock in the Santa Ana High school auditorium. The chorus, which is composed entirely of rural school children of Orange county, was organized by Irene Loose Schoepfle, the county supervisor of music. The purpose of this chorus is to further greater interest in music. Members were chosen last fall and have held monthly meetings for one hour's rehearsal.

"It has been the ambition of the county school department that every child in the Orange county schools be given the chance to develop his musical ability to the highest of his capacity," said Mrs. Schoepfle. "It is felt that if in this selected group of 250 voices there is the germ of a great artist, then it has been given the chance to develop and grow. Those who have had the advantage of being one small part of a large chorus have had, as result, a finer appreciation and understanding of music."

The chorus is under the capable direction of Marie Madison Daugherty who is well known throughout the county for her work in the rural schools. Dudley Page Harper, an accomplished pianist, of Santa Ana, who has also been giving part time teaching in the rural schools, is the accompanist.

The success of this chorus is dependent upon the cooperation of many persons including the music teachers and principals of the county schools, and the patrons of each community who have given so freely of their time to take the chorus members to rehearsals.

The concert is to include numbers by the chorus, songs by the Boys' Choir from the Olive and Olinda schools, and a group of Spanish dances from the San Clemente School of Music and Dancing. Tickets for reserved seats are being distributed by each rural school principal.

"BLACK FRIDAY" in WALL STREET

When the "money racketeers," Fisk and Gould, using President Grant as an unsuspecting tool, cornered the gold market and turned New York into a financial madhouse

Twenty-Four Hours That Made History

By HENRY W. LAWRENCE

"AND President Grant is hand in glove with those dirty crooks, swindling honest business men out of millions and driving respectable financiers into bankruptcy and suicide."

So thought many a panic-stricken broker in most of the financial centers of the United States during the ominous afternoon of Thursday, Sept. 23, 1869. So also thought a vastly greater number of merchants, compelled in their regular business dealings to pay certain of their debts in gold, which gold they must now buy at outrageous prices, often ruinous prices, from the "dirty crooks" above mentioned, who seemed to be receiving direct and indispensable aid from the treasury of the United States.

The press was skirting the edges of libel in its accounts of the monstrous theft. An editorial in the New York Times that morning had announced that the gold bulls in Wall Street were confidently claiming that everybody connected with the federal treasury, including President Grant, was actively supporting this devastating corner in gold. And on the Gold Exchange its price kept marching upward to unheard of levels.

Into the gold room on this tremendous day comes Jim Fisk, flamboyant and picturesque partner of that silent man of mystery and menace, Jay Gould.

Brains and boldness both these conspirators possess in abundance, but it is Fisk who has the loud voice in this duet; Gould sings very softly, but it was he who wrote the music.

AS Fisk strolls nonchalantly into the exchange, he seems somewhat like a snowball in a blast furnace; an asbestos snowball, that is, for the surrounding heat and fury do not cause him to melt; do not even wilt his collar nor crack his bland smile.

All about him are brokers; at least they were brokers earlier in the day, but right now they are roaring wild animals, struggling to slay before they are slain in the desperate battle for gold.

Some have already been slain, financially; others see their demise only a few minutes, perhaps seconds, ahead, and are still grappling hopelessly against the inevitable.

The killers are prominent in the seething center of the mass, their confident battle cries heard above the frantic din, offering to buy gold, millions of dollars worth of it, at prices ever mounting higher and still higher. A broker named Albert Speyers is bidding for the Fisk-Gould combination and he roars his challenging offer, "A hundred and forty-two and three-eighths for a million!"

No buyers. Then the crowd notices that Fisk is there, and they rush to him to find out, if they can, what is coming next.

"It'll go to 200," is his stunning announcement. "Better get in out of the wet while you can, boys."

A ROAR of dissent and denial greets him. He rises jauntily to the challenge.

"All right," he shouts above the uproar, and it suddenly grows silent. "I'll bet $50,000 it will go to 200! Fifty thousand, or any part of it, that gold goes to 200!"

No takers. They are dumb with dismay. There is only one thing that can stop this bull stampede, and that is the sale of some of the gold in the United States treasury.

They question Fisk about this possibility, and he drops broad hints to indicate his confident belief that both the secretary of the treasury and the president of the United States are among those who hope to profit by this cornering of the gold market.

At 3 o'clock the exchange closes. Gold has risen to 145, after a record-breaking day in which the transactions in the gold room aggregated $239,000,000.

Heaven knows what is to happen on the morrow; heaven and possibly two others—Ulysses

S. Grant, who can, if he will, turn on the treasury spigot to let a flood of gold into the market and drown the stampeding bulls, and Jay Gould, black knight of the double-cross.

When the exchange was opened that Thursday morning, Gould had about 50 millions of gold, and he began at once to sell, secretly. Not even his own partner, Jim Fisk, knew of Gould's desertion. While Fisk was strutting noisily about the exchange, boosting the price of gold, his wily associate was back in a broker's office whispering selling orders that tended to bring that price down.

TO understand this we must leave New York and travel hastily to Washington, to attend a conference, late Thursday night, between President Grant and Secretary of the Treasury Boutwell, deeply disturbed by the news from the New York Gold Exchange.

Grant was even more deeply disturbed than Boutwell. Events were threatening to involve him, as president of the United States, in a financial scandal of gigantic proportions.

He recalled the repeated and successful efforts made during the months preceding by Gould and Fisk to ingratiate themselves with him; how he had met them socially at the New York home of his somewhat slippery brother-in-law, A. R. Corbin; how he had rather conspicuously accepted their hospitality, in their opera house and on board their palatial steamships.

Especially he remembered now their persistent interest in converting him to the notion that the welfare of the country, notably the prosperity of the western farmers, would be greatly promoted by keeping up the price of gold, indeed, by raising it to a much higher level than it had recently held. This could not be done, so they had told him, unless the U. S. treasury refrained from putting any of its supply on the market. They had been, of late, very persistent in their arguments.

Jim Fisk, who thought himself a Napoleon of Wall Street . . . until Uncle Sam started selling gold and knocked the props out from under his schemes.

An old-time New York cartoon (right) showing Fisk stirring up the Gold Exchange bulls and bears.

At this conference, therefore, on the eventful night of Thursday, Sept. 23, 1869, the president and the secretary of the treasury were both worried. A nation-wide money crisis seemed to be developing, and a widespread suspicion existed that public officials, including the president and the secretary of the treasury, were fully aware of the Gould-Fisk operations, and were expecting a handsome share in the loot.

The question they had to answer was, "Do this crisis and these suspicions warrant the treasury's interference in the struggle between the bulls and bears of Wall Street?"

They seem to have decided that such interference would be justified and desirable only if the events of tomorrow should indicate that the price of gold was being forced to a height which meant nation-wide disaster. Tonight they would do nothing. Tomorrow they would keep close to the telegraph.

At 9:30 Friday morning—"Black Friday"—members swarmed into the gold exchange. Sales could not begin till 10 o'clock; but everybody hoped to get some advance information. Gould and Fisk were marshalling their forces for the impending battle.

Gould sat quietly behind a desk in an obscure corner of the room. His commands were given in whispers; while his partner and the public supposed of course he was buying the market upward, he was actually selling it downward.

Under such circumstances most anybody might wish to talk softly. Fisk, on the other hand, was in the center of the room, roaring his orders to his aides.

AT 10 o'clock the market opened, with gold at 143½.

aware of this obvious fact when Fisk's broker, Speyers, began to bombard them with offers to buy at higher and still higher prices.

"Forty-six for a million!" he yelled. His hearers were dazed and for the moment silent. Steadily he ran the price up to 148, with now and then a desperate flurry of selling which vainly tried to stem the upward rush.

Then the rumor started that some stock broker was about to shoot Speyers, since nothing else could stop him. While he was rushing over to the stock exchange to defy his would-be assassin there, other bulls jammed gold up to 152. With gold above 150, he dashed back to Fisk for further orders.

BY this time Fisk was publicly admitting himself to be the Napoleon of Wall Street. In his shirt sleeves and with a big cane in his hand, he strutted proudly about the office and boasted that he would presently put gold up to the 200 mark.

"Go and bid gold up to 160," he shouted at Speyers. "Take all you can get at 160. But you will be too late, for I have given orders to other brokers already to buy at 160."

Shortly after 11 o'clock, on Friday morning, the president and the secretary of the treasury held a highly important conference. The worst that they had feared seemed to be happening on the gold exchange.

Apparently the moment had come when they must act. Shortly before noon the fateful order directing the sale of four millions of treasury gold was committed to the telegraph wires.

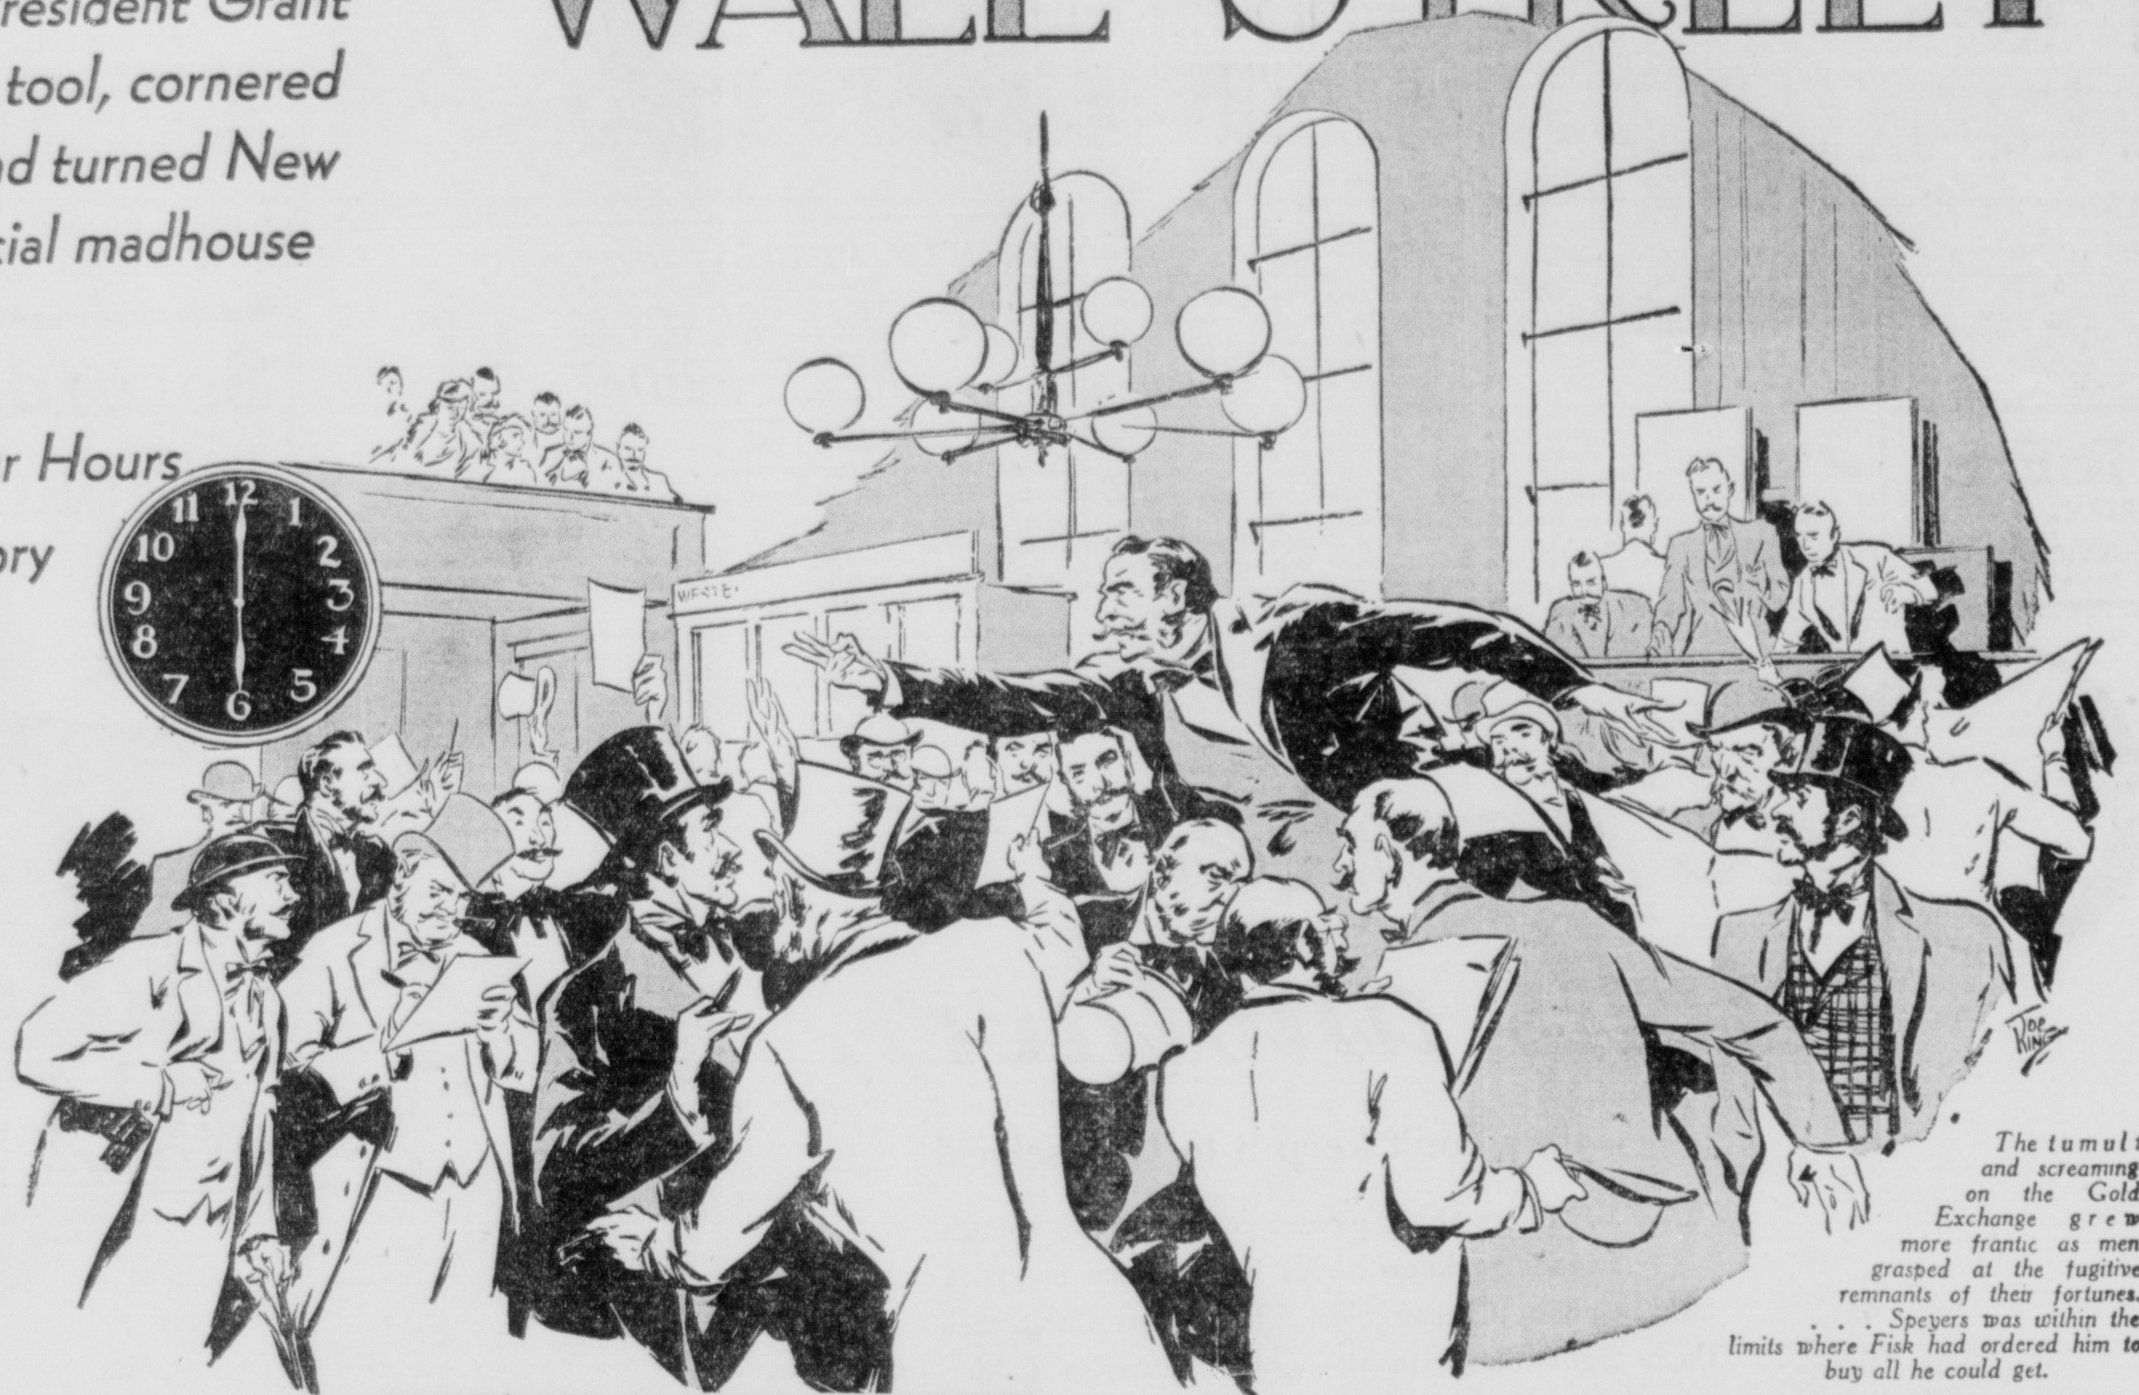

BACK in New York, the tumult and the screaming on the gold exchange grew ever louder and more frantic. Men of wealth and position were grasping desperately at the fugitive remnants of their fortunes. Everybody seemed to be trying to buy gold before its price went entirely out of sight and reach.

Speyers was within the limits where Fisk had ordered him to buy all he could get, and he stood firm. A dozen resuscitated bears rushed upon him, offering to sell, and he bought all they offered.

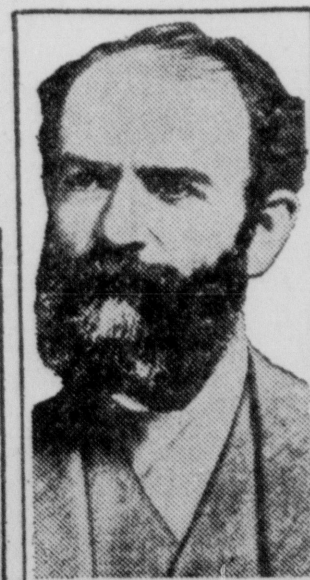

Then the final blow was struck; the news got out—"The treasury's selling!"

In 15 minutes the price of gold fell almost 30 points. The corner was broken, smashed flat. Fisk and Gould fled for their lives, guarded by armed thugs.

Gould, who had cleared several millions by his double-crossing tactics, made a satisfactory settlement with Fisk and they continued to be partners. A congressional investigation excoriated Fisk, and history wrote Grant down as an innocent dupe.

The tumult and screaming on the Gold Exchange grew more frantic as men grasped at the fugitive remnants of their fortunes. Speyers was within the limits where Fisk had ordered him to buy all he could get.

Jay Gould, who double-crossed his partner and made millions.

"Buy all the gold you can at 145 or under," boomed Fisk to his broker. In a few minutes this optimistic buying brought results. Gold rose to 145.

"Good," said Fisk, gleefully. Then he scribbled a note to his buyer. It read, "Put it to 150 at once. JAMES FISK, JR."

Nobody knew better than Fisk did that every fluctuation of a point in the selling price of gold meant gains and losses of millions, meant the paralysis of business from New York to San Francisco, and bankruptcies by the score. Everybody in the gold room was desperately

New Officers Named For County Teachers, Principals

150 HEAR TALK ON LINCOLN BY DR. BLAKESLEE

PLACENTIA, May 20.—New officers were elected at the closing meeting of the Orange County Teachers' and Principals' association held at Placentia American Legion hall last night, with Placentia teachers, hosts to the 150 guests. Dr. F. D. Blakeslee, one of the few persons living who had a personal acquaintance with Lincoln, told of his contacts with him and of the points of character and training that had assisted in moulding Lincoln into the "greatest character since Calvary."

The new officers, elected on a unanimous ballot on report of Mrs. Gladys Head, principal of Orange-Thorp school, are, Charles A. Waise, Tustin school, president; C. B. Baldwin, Huntington Beach school, vice president; Joe Severns, La Habra school, treasurer, and Jean Paulson, Brea, secretary. Retiring officers are Wilbert Bonney, Anaheim, president, who presided at last night's meeting; Mr. Waise, vice president; J. D. Hayes, El Modena, treasurer, and Mrs. Zella Salveson, Placentia, secretary.

The new board of directors to be completed by the first meeting of the new year, in October, includes Mrs. Mattie Lou Maxwell, Anaheim; R. L. Spaulding, Orange; Lena Wilsey, and Ethel Dwyer, Huntington Beach; Lucy Roger, Tustin; Ethel Evans, Garden Grove, and Elizabeth Joyce, San Juan Capistrano. Mrs. Salveson presented their names. They are elected from the high school districts of the county.

Dr. Blakeslee presented as lessons from the career of Lincoln for the training of the present generation the fact, first that he had a great mother, who urged him to better things, and who made him promise to never use intoxicating liquors.

"The fact of his great tender, loving attitude, even toward his enemies, is found in the fact that he was Christlike, and that the true foundation of morality and greatness, and Lincoln was the most perfect character, morally, of modern times, lies in his being a student of the Bible, and a man of prayer," Dr. Blakeslee said.

"He was more than a statesman, he was a Christian statesman, one that towered above the lesser peaks, and not only was he an emancipator of a race, a savior of a nation, he foresaw that liquor must eventually be abolished from the nation, were men to be free."

"At one time in his life Lincoln said, 'The slavery of rum has a greater power than slavery of a race to dispirit,' and saw half a century ahead that such an act as the 18th amendment must be passed to free a nation."

"Liquor is legally dethroned now, and in time it will be effectively dethroned."

Another great point in Lincoln's training was that he used the opportunity he had, and although he had but one book, the Bible, to study when a youth, he mastered it, according to the speaker. He took occasion to suggest that mastering of one book well is better than reading everything and anything for the fun of reading.

Table decorations, and the games that followed, carried out the Olympic games theme. Glenn A. Riddinger made the address of welcome, to which Mr. Bonney responded.

Stanley Berkey, of Buena Park, sang a group of songs by Oscar

Fox, the cowboy composer, "Hills of Home," "Home on the Range" and "Rounded Up in Glory." He was accompanied on the piano by Miss Lucy Belle Morgan, Mrs. Florence Arnold, in charge of music in Placentia schools, introduced them.

The business session included a report on the efforts to get an initiative measure on the ballot next fall, placing part of government expense on income and selective sales tax, and relieving real property.

Rural principals are to meet at Ketter's cafe in Santa Ana May 26 for dinner and discussion, it was announced.

PARK PICTURES SHOWN TUSTIN FARM CENTER

TUSTIN, May 20.—Through the courtesy of the Union Pacific railway system, members and friends of the Tustin Farm center enjoyed stereoscopic views of Grand Canyon National park, Zion National park, Bryce Canyon National park and Kalbar National forest at the regular meeting of the center Wednesday night in the Tustin Farm Center hall.

E. E. Campbell, a member of the water conservation committee of the Orange County Fair bureau, gave a short talk on "The Present Water Situation in Orange County," urging that all work together to save water. He stated that reclaimed water can be purified at a reasonable cost and is cheaper than any water that can be brought in here. It would cost $35 an acre foot of water to get water from the Colorado river, he said. Campbell told of the formation of a sewage reclamation committee and said he was in favor of a county ordinance against the waste of water, declaring that there is a waste of water at the gun clubs, golf clubs and the fish farm near Westminster.

Secretary Paul Etzold gave a report on the farm center officers' meeting and Felton Browning told briefly of the activities of the marketing, water and tax committees. Browning stated that the exchange and the M. O. D. representing 35 per cent of the acreage, had both agreed to the control plan in the shipment of oranges and that as soon as 50 per cent of the orange shippers agree to co-operate, the agreement will be put into operation.

John W. Crill, president of the county farm bureau, invited everyone to be at the annual picnic May 24 at Irvine park and to bring a basket lunch. Thirty of the national officers will be present from 11:30 a. m. until 1:30 p. m. San Stanley, Paul E. Day, William Kellams, J. S. Arundell, Gavin Baxter, J. Gorton, B. B. McCulla, Walter Pollard, C. B. Smith, Henry Wilder, Dale Winterbourne, Earl Marshall, Sylvia Weadon, R. Cruzen, J. Stuart Hydanus, Philip Brooks and the Misses Erna Knapp and Minnie Windler.

Defeat Fails To Disturb Gene Venzke

NEW YORK, May 20.—(UP)—Gene Venzke, one of America's outstanding Olympic track hopes, is imbued with new confidence he will establish a world record in the 1500-meter run at the Los Angeles Games, despite his defeat last night.

The tall, bronzed runner told the United Press this new confidence was inspired by his "excellent time" last night in a shorter 1000-yard race in which he finished third, running against a field of five crack half-milers. This event is 760 yards less than the mile and 640 yards less than 1500 meters.

He was beaten by Otto Rosner, a teacher from Lawrenceville school, N. J., the winner, and George Bullwinkle of New York, second, during the twilight track and field meet of the New York Curb Exchange A. A.

Rosner was clocked in 2 minutes, 12.4 second.

M'CARTER WINS DELHI WINDUP IN FIRST HEAT

"Bud" McCarter wasted neither time nor effort "coming back" at the Orange County Athletic club. The Orange middleweight knocked Ted Woods of Texas clear back to Texas in the first round of his redemption match last night, re-establishing himself as a main-eventer at Elmer Willson's arena.

Woods wasn't so much, and McCarter's straighter and harder punches shook his confidence before a flurry of well directed blows ended the engagement in the middle of the first round.

McCarter's kid brother, Oliver, really stole the show, which was well attended. Oliver, a lightweight at 138 pounds, made an unadvertised appearance on the program in the semi-windup. It was a good break for the youngster, and he didn't fumble his chance. He stopped Alex Venzuela of El Modena in the second round, and Alex is no chump so Oliver must have something. McCarter outboxed Venzuela in the first round, got down a real business in the second. A terrific right to the lug and a long left to the stomach finished Venzuela.

Paul Brown, Santa Ana 125-pounder, kayoed Florencio Carriela, Los Angeles, in the third heat of the special event. Brown was too smart for the Filipino who.

Wetherell had little trouble winning his two matches and looks as the favorite to win the tournament, first taken in 1928 by Stewart McPherson of Santa Ana. He eliminated Wade of Garden Grove and Chastam of Anaheim in straight sets, and was to face Harold Hemes of Fullerton today.

CARTWRIGHT ON WAY TO STATE MODESTO MEET

Ray Cartwright, Santa Ana high school's phenomenal half-miler, was on his way to Modesto today to wind up his career as a prep runner in tomorrow's California State Interscholastic track meet. The Saint champion, holder of the Southern California scholastic record of 1 minute, 56.6 seconds, motored north, accompanied by his coach, "Chuck" Webster. They plan to stop either at Fresno or Merced tonight, making an easy trek into Modesto in the morning.

Cartwright hopes to break the state 880 record of 1:57.6, made last year by Jimmy Satterfield of Manual Arts, and if conditions are just right and the Santa Anas feel on edge, he may go after Ted Meredith's 20-year-old world's prep mark of 1:55.

Closest competition again is expected from other Southern California prep competitors, led by Fred Rathbun of Long Beach. Webb of Manual Arts and Murphy of Hollywood are contenders. Best of the Northern California delegation is Cross of Modesto, who has done 2:00.5, and Brace of Alameda who won the North Coast section 880 in 2:02.5. Voorhees of Santa Cruz has run 2:00, as has Dethlefsen of Merced. Other Northern entries include McCall of Bakersfield, Solon of Talmadge and Stoddard of Hanford.

Long Beach Poly, champion of Southern California, is favored to win the state meet. Modesto and Alameda are the only Northern schools with a chance to give the Hares a battle.

PETROLLE-BAT BOUT WORRIES MR. M'LEMORE

Joe Ochso shaded Ellwood Lindley in a sizzling pitcher's battle at the Bowl last night, giving Al's Auto Service a 2-0 decision over the Santa Ana Elks and keeping the Servicemen tied with the Green Cat cafe for the first place in the Santa Ana City night baseball league.

For five innings, Ochso and Lindley moved along on even terms. The score was 0-0 and each side had been limited to two singles.

But in the sixth, Al's Auto Service broke through, Harold English scoring on an error and hits by "Bono" Koral and Baker. The Servicemen added another run in the seventh on Prather's single, a stolen base, a wild pitch and an error.

Red and White Stores won the curtain-raiser from the First National bank, 6-5. The Bankers went into the final inning with a 5-3 edge but Labrunche's double, Camp's walk, Lutz's double and Trickett's triple, all in succession, netted three runs and a Red and White victory.

FULLERTON IN PLEA TO QUIT COAST LEAGUE

Long Beach Poly will invade Santa Ana's 1932 football program in the Coast Preparatory league.

Drafted at a meeting of conference representatives at Pasadena yesterday, the schedule calls for Coach "Tex" Oliver's champion Saints to play at home three times, away three times.

They meet in order Long Beach, Pasadena, San Diego, Alhambra, Fullerton and Glendale. The Long Beach, Pasadena and Fullerton games will be played here. The San Diego contest, always anxiously awaited by followers of Hi's gridiron destinies, will be played at San Diego October 29.

The schedule follows in full: October 8—Long Beach at Santa Ana; San Diego at Fullerton; Alhambra at Glendale; Pasadena, bye.

October 15—Fullerton at Pasadena; Glendale at Long Beach; Alhambra at San Diego; Santa Ana, bye.

October 22—Pasadena at Santa Ana; Long Beach at Alhambra; Glendale at Fullerton; San Diego, bye.

October 29—Santa Ana at San Diego; Alhambra at Fullerton; Glendale at Pasadena; Long Beach, bye.

November 5—Bye. November 12—Santa Ana at Alhambra; Pasadena at San Diego; Fullerton at Glendale; Glendale, bye.

November 19—Fullerton at Santa Ana; San Diego at Glendale; Long Beach at Alhambra, bye.

November 26—Santa Ana at Glendale; San Diego at Long Beach; Pasadena at Alhambra; Fullerton, bye.

There is a "joker" in the schedule which may cause the entire program to be disregarded later. Fullerton, Hi, long 'twixt the "devil and deep blue sea" in conference athletic alignments, dropped a bombshell into the meeting with an announcement it had petitioned the C. I. F. for permission to operate as a free-lance school instead of continuing membership in the Coast league.

Unhappy in the Orange league, unwanted in the Foothill circuit, outnumbered in the Coast league, poor Fullerton knows not which way to jump. Fullerton spokesmen candidly admitted the school did not care to play San Diego or Long Beach, but would willingly arrange "free lance" tussles with the rest of the schools. San Diego and Long Beach are too large to compete against, Fullerton contended.

If Fullerton's application to the C. I. F. is acted on favorably, it is probable the entire schedule will be thrown out in favor of a brand new one.

Eugene Wolfe of Glendale was elected president of the Coast league for 1932-33. J. C. Pennywell of Long Beach was made secretary. Retiring officers are President J. P. O'Mara of Pasadena and Secretary Wolfe.

The conference voted to eliminate Class C football as an economy measure and to play its Class B games as preliminaries to "A" matches.

Golf was accepted as a fall sport. Hereafter, the league will send two Los Angeles officials to work league games played in San Diego. In the past, the San Diego Officials' association has appointed all four officials for stadium games.

Lewis Wetherell and Fred Wiener, Santa Ana Hi's entries in the annual invitational tennis tournament now in progress at Orange played semi-final matches today, as a result of two victories each in matches yesterday.

The biggest upset of the tournament occurred when Wiener defeated Dozier of Orange, who had been seeded No. 3 ahead of Wetherell, Saint No. 2.

Wiener also disposed of Hennigan, Brea-Olinda, 6-4, 6-3. Wiener was paired with Corona's Blair, 1931 winner, in the semi-finals this afternoon.

Wetherell had little trouble winning his two matches and looks as the favorite to win the tournament, first taken in 1928 by Stewart McPherson of Santa Ana. He eliminated Wade of Garden Grove and Chastam of Anaheim in straight sets, and was to face Harold Hemes of Fullerton today.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

When old man play had told the bunch 'bout work and play, he had a hunch that he could give them more advice on other things galore.

"If you don't mind my talk," said he, "and listen attentively, I'll tell you how you ought to eat." He then heard Duncy roar.

"Speaking of eating," said the lad, "I know that I'd be mighty glad if I could have a bite of lunch. Most anything will do."

"If you'll make sandwiches for us and promise not to fret and fuss, we'll thoroughly enjoy them and be much obliged to you."

"All right," replied the play man, "Come! I'll very gladly make you some. And while you are enjoying them I'll tell you 'bout your meals."

And so they went inside his door and ate till they could eat no more. "Oh gee," said Scouty, "when a fellow eats, how good he feels!"

The play man said, "If you're discreet and always careful how you eat, the food is bound to do you good and keep you feeling fit."

"But you will never grow up strong, if you keep piecing all day long. The harm it does will overcome the wondrous good in it."

All of a sudden Windy said, "Why, look at that old sleepy head! The play man's closed his eyes. Let's make him climb into his bunk."

So Duncy yelled with all his might, "Wake up, so you can lie down right." And then they led him to his bed, where he flopped down, kerplunk!

"I'm very sorry, lads," said he, "that Mister Sandman's captured me. My eyes are heavy. I must sleep. I've talked too much 'bout play."

And shortly he was snoring loud. The happy little Tiny crowd were just as quiet as could be as they all sneaked away.

Oil Production Curtailment Plan Making Progress

Ratification of the proposed revisions of the voluntary oil curtailment program has been completed according to Neal H. Anderson, state oil umpire, and all of the 45 principal producing areas of the state have endorsed the plan submitted by the oil umpire.

A meeting was held yesterday of the 15 chairmen of the field committees which constitute the Producers' Central Proration committee which will work out the technical details of the proposal for allotment on the basis of offset well conditions and a revision of the administrative branch of the curtailment program.

New schedules for the individual fields are expected to be prepared and in spite of the fact that numerous details remain to be settled, it is hoped to have the plan in complete operation throughout the state before the end of the month.

Outlook for the success of the project is regarded as assured. Although average daily production last week, as estimated by the American Petroleum Institute, was approximately 520,000 barrels daily, the present week's average is expected to show a healthy decline in view of the fact that a reduction has been made at Dominguez field and also that one of the major purchasing companies has curbed its purchasing program.

Independent producers throughout the state have shown such a remarkable willingness to cooperate in the revised plan that the more optimistic petroleum economists are already beginning to believe that the state allotment of 456,700 barrels will be attained before the end of June. Such a prospect has revived rumors of the possibility of a boost in crude prices to open the second half of the year.

CHANGE OF VENUE GRANTED BY COURT

On request of H. H. Cotton of San Clemente a change of venue from the Los Angeles Municipal court to the Orange county superior court was granted in the matter of an action filed by A. C. Jamison to recover certain money alleged due him.

According to the complaint which accompanied the court order granting the change of venue, Jamison, Cotton and Ole Hanson, founder of San Clemente, own certain property in Los Angeles known as the Beaudry street property. Jamison has a half interest in the land, Hanson a quarter and the remaining quarter belongs to Cotton.

There is a mortgage for $65,000 against the property and Jamison alleges that each shareholder was to pay a portion of the interest on the mortgage and taxes in proportion to his hold. Cotton is alleged to have failed to pay $480.94 as his portion of the expenses during the past two years.

According to a survey by the municipal council of Paris, the city is valued at $8,320,000,000.

FAITH EMPHASIZED BY REV. BENNETT

"Emotion in religion is an effect of living faith," said Evangelist Fred E. Bennett to an appreciative audience Wednesday night at the Free Methodist church.

"Faith is powerful and rests on confidence, in the Bible, the efficacy of prayer, and the influence of the Holy Spirit." The evangelist last night began what he calls "The Bible Battery"—a program carried out by the audience. Delegations from Anaheim were present to hear the message on "The Eternal Question."

He also gives preliminary talks this week on "Causes of World Depression," which will be based upon personal research and correspondence with one of the candidates for the presidency of the United States.

WARN AGAINST UNAUTHORIZED VET SALESMEN

ELECT SANTA ANA WOMEN AT BAPTIST MEET

Asking the cooperation of residents of Santa Ana in an attempt to halt the operations of unauthorized persons soliciting or selling war medals under the guise that they are disabled veterans, a joint statement was issued today by all veterans' organizations in Santa Ana. The statement points out that authentic disabled veterans are able to obtain through the veterans welfare office, a city permit free of charge to transact business. The public should ask to see these permits, it was pointed out.

The statement was signed by Charles Winter, commander of the Spanish War Veterans; Rodney E. Bacon, commander of the Legion post; W. M. Kelsey, commander of Veterans of Foreign Wars; and Earl B. Hawks, commander of the Disabled American Veterans of the World war.

Following is the complete statement: "Regardless of good times or a depression, there are always men who pose as veterans and who ask the public to purchase cards, magazines or goods. They are usually non-residents and often are not even veterans but are racketeers. The veterans organizations of this city are anxious to stamp out this practice and ask the cooperation of all citizens to this end.

"Any veteran who wishes to solicit can go to the Veterans Welfare Bureau on Main street and present his case to Harry D. Edwards and if meritorious will be given a certificate which will entitle him to go to the city clerk and secure a free license or permit. Ask the solicitor who calls upon you to see his permit. If meritorious he will have it and if he has none notify the police department and these ped.

Unauthorized attempts will be stopped. "We are heart and soul with any attempt by a veteran to gain a livelihood by proper means and in an authorized way, but we do not want the public to be imposed upon by anyone under false colors which brings discredit upon all veterans. The above information will enable the public to protect all concerned."

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Five years ago he was a youngster of 25, a friendly, rather reckless pilot who had just completed a record flight across the continent, and who stood, as you see him here, on the threshold of fame. When this picture was taken at Roosevelt Field, Captain Charles A. Lindbergh and his monoplane, the Spirit of St. Louis, were ready to start the first non-stop, 3600-mile flight to Paris. That was May 20, 1927. He became a universally acclaimed hero, wealthy, powerful in the field of aviation. He married an Ambassador's daughter. Their son was the nation's most celebrated baby. Then came the kidnapping, the frantic search, the finding of the murdered child's body. Lindbergh is a different man today, made prematurely old by the weeks of horror he has suffered.

CORPORATION COMMISSIONER OF STATE MAKES STATEMENT ON EXCESS INTEREST RULING

The decision of the state Supreme Court in ruling invalid a state legislative amendment permitting personal property brokers to charge 3 1/2 per cent per month, or 42 per cent per year, interest on small loans, nullifies any interest in excess of 12 per cent a year, the amount fixed by state law previously as being the maximum interest that could be charged under the state usury law, according to a statement made today to a representative of The Register by E. M. Daugherty, of Los Angeles, state Commissioner of Corporations.

While Commissioner Daugherty declared that such was his personal opinion, an official opinion on the matter will be made within a few days following a conference of legal authorities from his department with members of the attorney general's office. Many involved legal questions which may creep into the matter, he said, owing to the fact that contracts which were made before the decision by the supreme court would have to be considered.

State Usury Law
The state usury law was passed in California by referendum, by direct vote of the people. The legislative amendment which was passed more recently by the state legislature, allowed 3 1/2 per cent per month to be charged. This measure was declared to be invalid by the court.

"In my opinion," Commissioner Daugherty said, "charging of more than 12 per cent per annum would be usury. The question is, how are service charges, insurance and other details to be construed. Attorneys in my department say that many of the points in the decision are perfectly clear, others are not."

Finance officials of local companies that have been charging more than 12 per cent interest per year and local attorneys have expressed opinions that in view of the state supreme court decision persons who have been paying more than 12 per cent for loans may credit the excess on the principal. It is also held by some attorneys that continued charging of the three and one-half per cent rate after the supreme court ruling, constitutes a violation of law.

Persons collecting more than the 12 per cent limit are not entitled under the law to pay interest at all and can only collect the principal of the loan and the borrower may recover through the court damages in the amount of three times the excess interest charged, according to official sources.

EXPLORER SAYS CANNIBALISM IS RAMPANT

Cannibalism in the hinterlands of equatorial Africa still is practiced on a large scale, according to Dr. Daniel Davenport, scientist and explorer, who recently returned after completing a tsetse fly survey of those sections which required nearly six years.

"The only real cure for these paganistic practices is a large increase in the personnel of missionary staffs," the physician explained. "Government officials wink at the orgies conducted by natives as these tend to 'keep them out of other mischief' while they are eating each other," he declared.

Civilization awaits the arrival of Christian missionaries in these fastnesses, Dr. Davenport announced. He will tell of his experiences at the First Methodist church here at 7:30 p. m., Sunday, May 22.

HOLD SHOWER FOR NURSERY MAY 26

ORANGE, May 20.—The eighth of a series of 10 study groups was held yesterday morning at the city hall by members of the Motherhood class and their director, Mrs. Percy Green. "Emotional Behavior of the Child" was the topic for the day.

During the discussion, it was brought out that "Babies are so delightfully cunning when they fly into their tiny rages, or commit any of the small offenses of small children, that we stupidly put off the inevitable conflict with the 'naughtiness' until it has developed into a sturdy problem."

From this point, the group discussed treatment of temper tantrums, the wise direction of anger; dangers in excessive affection and how to deal with jealousy. At the next meeting on May 26 at 9:30 a. m., in the city hall, children of mothers attending will have a shower for the day nursery in the city hall. They will contribute toys to the nursery, wrapping them as gifts and making the presentation themselves.

ARMY PLANES TO TAKE PART IN "AIR DAY"

AMATEUR GETS RADIO MESSAGE FROM EXPLORER

From a sending and receiving set which he himself constructed and was instrumental in having the Federal Radio commission label as W6YAE, official station of the Santa Ana High school Engineers, Rodney Engel, club president and licensed operator, this week experienced the greatest thrill of his amateur radio career.

Fumbling the dials after a regular club meeting Wednesday night, Engel became annoyed by a sound which drowned out all other messages. He thought the message an unimportant one, coming from a nearby station. Further investigation, however, showed that he was in communication with a party by the name of M. Martin on the CoCos Islands, near Borneo, several thousand miles over the South Pacific.

Martin, who gave his home address to Engel as 1044 Melva street, Vancouver, B. C., sent in his message the fact that he had been on the islands for two months in search of buried treasure. He was particularly interested in the Lindbergh kidnapping case, and anxious to know if the baby had been found.

The W6YAE station has been in the possession of the club, under the direction of Charles L. Tibbets, for the past three months. During that time, Engel, the only licensed operator among the school Engineers, has communicated with stations in Japan, including Tokyo; in Vancouver, B. C.; White Horse, Yukon territory; Craig, Alaska, and in Mexico City.

Wilson P.-T. A. Board Entertains Faculty

Massed spring flowers, artistically grouped, added to the charm of the lovely new home of Mrs. R. E. Couch, 327 Louise street, when Mrs. Couch, as president of the Woodrow Wilson Parent-Teacher association, received members of the Wilson school teaching staff Wednesday night at a bridge affair arranged by members of the executive board.

Bridge claimed the attention of guests during the early evening hours, with handsome awards going to Miss Lora Bean, high, who received a pink glass cake plate bearing an angel food cake frosted in pink; to Miss Lois Winslow, second high, who won a bowl in which was arranged a miniature cactus garden; and to Miss Enid Twist, who was consoling with a black vase filled with pansies. Miss Frances Corson, who did not participate in the card games, received a second vase filled with flowers.

A light supper was served after the prize presentations to the Misses Bernice Keller, Frances Corson, Lora Bean, Enid Twist, Johanne Eilers, Gertrude Streets, Lucille Harrison, Velma Smith, Lois Winslow, Mesdames Evelyn Blandin, and the hostesses, Mrs. R. E. Couch, and Mesdames George T. Calhoun, R. Foster Lamm, David Carmichael, R. A. Tiernan and C. W. Eggleston.

PORTLAND, Ore. — Forty-two dogs, some of them watch dogs, were quarantined in the Rose City veterinary hospital—but it didn't do any good to have them there. Two men, unmasked, walked into the hospital, stroked the dogs, and held up Dr. G. Huthman and an assistant, taking $40.

Something Nice for the Emergency Shelf

If I were in your shoes I'd make a big jar of lemon butter and keep it in the refrigerator for emergency use. First let me give you the recipe.

LEMON BUTTER
7 egg yolks beaten with
1/2 cup white sugar
Juices and grated rind of two large lemons
4 tablespoons butter.

Whip the egg yolks, sugar and lemon together until well frothed, then put the bowl over hot water, add the butter, melted, and stir the lemon butter until it is quite thick and cooked to semi-transparent. Put it away in small covered jars where it will keep very cold.

Assuming that you will use the seven egg whites for making an angel food cake, let me suggest that the cake be baked in layer tins, put together with the lemon butter and frothed with a lemon butter frosting.

For a thick lemon tart, bake and keep on hand several pastry shells. Frosted one by heating, spread generously with lemon butter. Make a meringue out of two stiffly beaten whites, add some of the lemon butter (soften it with hot water), whip well, and you can serve Lemon Chiffon Pie that is just a little better than the best.

For a quick lemon sauce just take a half-cupful of the butter, add to it a cup of hot water and stir until it bubbles.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Fritter Batter
2 eggs, whites beaten separately
1 cup milk
2 level teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
Flour to make a fairly stiff batter.

Beat the egg yolks to a froth, add the milk and salt, then a small cupful of flour sifted, with baking powder. Whip well with the egg beater for two minutes, then add whatever more flour the batter needs, fold in the stiffly beaten whites, and use.

For dessert fritters add two tablespoons of sugar to the batter.

HOW TO USE THE BATTER
For fruit fritters: Cut the fruit in thin slices (pre-cooked is necessary), sprinkle the sections with sugar, roll in sifted bread crumbs, and let stand a few minutes, then dip in the fritter batter and fry in deep fat. Meat cooked in batter: partially or wholly cooked before dipping and fry in a basket.

Fruit fritters: sweeten the batter, fold in fresh berries and drop by spoonfuls into hot fat. Bananas and pineapples are treated in the same way.

It isn't the batter that counts in fritters, it's the fat in which they are cooked. The ordinary fruit or vegetable fritter is worth not less than 200 energy calories.

Do you use that stock phrase about shampooing: "I can't do a thing with my hair!" You can tear out the page and throw it away after you've tried my SATIN SHAMPOO. Send me your stamped, self-addressed envelope today or tomorrow and a free copy of the shampoo formula will be mailed to you.

Saturday's recipe will be a modernized version of Neapolitan Pudding for our modern refrigerator.

VAUDEVILLE AND "SKY BRIDE" AT FOX BROADWAY

Five big acts of vaudeville, together with the new picture "Sky Brides," opens a two-day engagement at the Fox Broadway theater today, bringing vaudeville back to the Broadway theater on Friday for the first time in several years. Heretofore vaudeville acts have been booked only on Saturdays.

The picture, latest starring the heroes of "Touchdown," Richard Arlen and Jack Oakie, in "Sky Brides" and shows the two stars taking to the air in their ships to keep their circus known as the circus of thrills.

There are the petty jealousies, the girl in the case, this time Virginia Bruce, and more stunt flying than the movies have recorded in a long time. Suspense, thrills and a romance that will be remembered for a long time makes the picture particularly well worth seeing.

The vaudeville acts are headed by Hadji Ali and company, an Oriental mystery act, which includes fire eating and other mysterious stunts which prove popular. Four other acts also grace the bill.

Another of the wild and woolly west pictures comes to the Fox West Coast theater tomorrow for the members of the Santa Ana Mickey Mouse club, which holds its regular meeting at 1 p. m. each Saturday.

The new picture is "Clearing the Range," starring Hoot Gibson, who gives another exhibition of daring riding and shooting which should please every child in Santa Ana.

On the stage will be seen another series of acts by the Marion Rankin school of dancing pupils from Long Beach. This act also will be held over for the regular shows on Saturday and Sunday.

Establishing a precedent for early-in-the-day birthday celebrations, Dr. P. M. Selxas, noted athletic authority, and instructor of moving exercise classes over radio station KFI, will fire the starting gun for his birthday at 6:45 Saturday morning when his "Early Birds" class gets under way.

GIVE RECIPES FOR FAVORITE JELLIES

BY ALICE BLAKE

Cherry Jelly
(Any kind except wild or chokecherry)
3 cups (11-2 lbs.) juice
6-8 (23-4 lbs.) sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin
To prepare juice, stem and crush 3 pounds fully ripe cherries. Do not pit. Add 1-2 cup water, bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 10 minutes. (For stronger cherry flavor, add 1-4 teaspoon almond extract before pouring.) Place fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice.
Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1-2 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about eleven 8-ounce glasses.

Black or Red Currant Jam
4 cups (2 lbs.) crushed fruit
1-2 cup water
1-2 cups (21-4 lbs.) sugar
1-2 bottle (1-2 cup) fruit pectin
To prepare fruit, crush thoroughly or grind about 2 pounds fully ripe fruit and measure it into a large kettle. Add 1-2 cup water, and stir until mixture boils. (With black currants, add 3-4 cup water.) Simmer, covered, 15 minutes. Add sugar, mix well, and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir in fruit pectin. Skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes about eleven 8-ounce glasses.

To prepare juice, crush thoroughly or grind about 3 quarts fully ripe berries. Place fruit in jelly

COMPANY MENU

Filet mignon with mushroom caps, new potatoes in cream sauce, radishes and ripe olives, buttered asparagus on toast.
Be sure the cream sauce over the potatoes is not too thin. Sprinkle with minced parsley just before sending to the table.
The asparagus is cut in uniform lengths and tied in small bundles. After cooking each bundle is placed in a strip of toast, the string is removed and melted butter poured over.
Remember that round steak put through the fine knife of the food chopper twice can be formed into very acceptable substitute for the filet of beef. Serve them with sautéed mushroom caps.

OVEN MEAL

Breaded veal cutlets, spiced apple rings, baked potatoes, baked stuffed tomatoes.
Use real steak and cut it in individual servings. Dip each piece in fine dried bread crumbs, then in egg slightly beaten with one tablespoon cold water and again in crumbs. Brown quickly, first on one side and then on the other, in a little hot fat in a frying pan. Cover closely and bake in a moderate oven until tender, about one hour.

Make a heavy syrup, using one cup sugar to one-half cup water. Add two tablespoons of tiny red cinnamon candies and slices of apple about one inch thick. Pare and core apples after slicing. Simmer slowly until the fruit is clear and cool before serving.
Choose uniform tomatoes and scoop out seeds, fill with a mixture of bread crumbs and celery with a suspicion of onion and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve on rounds of hot buttered toast.

TOP-STOVE MEAL

Pan-broiled lamb chops with minted orange slices, glaze carrots, French fried onions.

NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT MAKING BIG HIT

Grocers Say Housewives Welcome Many Improvements in Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit

Local grocers have pronounced the new Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit one of the most up-to-date food products on the market. It offers many outstanding and popular features. For one thing, the biscuits are toasted a golden brown on both top and bottom—not just one side.

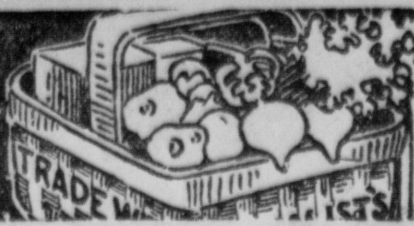

The new Kellogg biscuit is also baked in a more convenient, economical size. Two biscuits just fit the cereal bowl—and you get 15 to the package instead of a dozen.

Mothers will especially be interested in the fact that every package is certified for food value by the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia. These new biscuits are considered a splendid food for both adults and children. With either hot or cold milk, you achieve a well-balanced amount of vitamins, minerals, proteins and carbohydrates.

The Kellogg Company uses a special process of "pressure-cooking" which retains all the food value of the whole wheat and makes it very easy to digest. At the same time it develops delicious flavor.

These improved biscuits can be identified by the name, Kellogg's, and the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

TROUBLED ALL LIFE WITH CONSTIPATION

But Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought Real Relief

If you are subject to headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness and other effects that so often result from constipation, read Mrs. Turner's voluntary letter.

"For the past six months I have been eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and cannot praise it too highly.

"Am fifty years of age. All my life have been troubled with constipation. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has not only helped me, but has cured me.

"I thought I couldn't like the taste of bran, but Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is delicious."—Mrs. C. J. Turner, 507 Hanover Street, Fall River, Mass.

Tests show ALL-BRAN contains two things which overcome constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Certainly this is more natural than taking pills and drugs—so often harmful. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. If you have intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

By VERNA RAMSEY

American industry has become highly organized and centralized. Harry W. Laddler in "Concentration and Control in American Industry" describes in a comprehensive fashion the extent of concentration of control in the main branches of American industry.

First there is a brief description of the rise of the great corporations in the United States with particular reference to the post-war period. The author then describes the merger and combine movement among our natural resources such as oil, iron, coal, copper, aluminum, lumber, water-power and other basic industries. He then enters the field of public utilities and describes the present day control in the telephone, telegraph, cable, radio, railroad, steamship, electrical, gas and water supply and other "natural monopolies" which receive franchises from the city, state and nation.

Part IV of the book deals with significant developments in our manufacturing and miscellaneous industries. This is followed by important chapters on banking, insurance, and investment trusts, retail distribution, agriculture trade associations, etc. Practically every section of the volume has been carefully checked up by experts in their respective fields.

The book should prove of exceptional interest and value to the business man and the general student of social developments, and should also serve as a valuable text and reference in economic courses.

Conditions in Russia are of very general interest. All other nations are observing the experiments of this country. Ellery Walter, who spent six months last spring and summer in Russia was able to observe conditions in that country as few outsiders have been permitted to do. He tells us the things he learned in his new book, "Russia's Decisive Year."

Armed with a letter from Senator Borah, he made the acquaintance of Stalin and other leaders of the Soviet regime. He taught English in the Moscow Institute and the Technicum for Engineers. In the process he managed to learn enough Russian to get along without the services of an interpreter. While in Russia he also acted as a news correspondent for the New York Herald-Tribune and was only foreign newspaperman to visit Siberia unescorted by an official interpreter. Mr. Walter traveled 15,000 miles through all sections of the immense Soviet Union—Siberia, the Urals, Ukraine, the Caucasus, the Crimea, as well as White Russia.

It is small wonder that as keen an observer as Ellery Walter should, with these unusual facilities and opportunities at his command, have something to say about the Russian experiment which is both original and, to an exceptional degree, authoritative. He saw many things which the casual observer is never permitted to observe. Among them, 17 prison trains in the short span of three weeks, each bearing upwards of two thousand kulaks—men, women and children—to the distant prisons of Siberia. The result is that this new book is one of the most interesting and significant views of Russia yet to appear in print.

Another nation that is demanding attention from the world is Germany. As reporter of the Reichstag Commission for the investigation of the causes of the German collapse in the World War, Dr. Arthur Rosenberg both for hearing from the leading soldiers and politicians their own explanation of the downfall of the Empire and for examining a great collection of documents bearing on the subject. From these two sources Dr. Rosenberg wrote "The Birth of the German Republic, 1871-1918." This was translated from the German by Ian F. D. Morrow.

He begins with a discussion of the social forces under Bismarck. Under William II the internal political conflicts in Germany became intensified. Then came the World War and the topsy-turvy events which came after it. The dictatorship of Ludendorff is discussed thoroughly. The events and men which make up the new order are brought to our understanding by this man who has allied himself with many of the movements.

This book is an impersonal and scholarly account of this period in Germany's history. It is a narrative that cannot fail to be of interest and value to all who wish to know something of the historical background to the present political and economic situation in Germany.

WESTMINSTER, May 20. — A group of artists of Long Beach came to Westminster this week to paint views. The old J. F. Patterson store building and the hay barn connected with the business in by-gone days when the store was erected in colony days, were the objects of interest.

NEWS OF THE SCHOOLS

Frances Willard

Social Law Picnic
Junior and Senior Social Law clubs of the Willard Junior High school held their annual picnic at Irvine park Monday evening after school.

Games were played before dinner. After dinner, Harvey Baker, toastmaster of the senior club, introduced Hubert Nall, who gave a toast to the alumni, which was answered by Charles Downey of the high school.

Another toast given the sponsors by Bill Flood was answered by Mr. Read. A clever characterization of the high nines was given by La Vene Parks. Major Anderson of the high school gave an interesting talk on "The Race" and Mac Beall spoke on "Social Law." George Munro was another interesting speaker. The program ended with a very amusing talk by Bob Davenport entitled "Little Folks and Tiny Tots."

Will Attend Excursion
It is estimated that 150 Willard pupils will attend the excursion to Santa Barbara Saturday. The expedition will be in charge of the Southern Pacific railroad and the Parent-Teachers' association. Among places of interest students will see are the new courthouse and the Santa Barbara Mission.

Combined Meeting
Willard Welfare and Service clubs held a joint meeting in the Willard cafeteria Wednesday. The meeting was conducted by Barbara Davis, president of the Welfare club. Harvey Baker, president of the Service club, introduced Dr. Percy R. Davis, city superintendent of schools, who talked on the meaning of the word "Service."

G. A. C. Meets
The last meeting of the Girls' Athletic club was held Friday. Plans for the banquet, to be held May 25 at the Doris-Kathryn Tea Shoppe, were discussed. New members called upon to make speeches were Mary Perkins, Jean McClay, Louisanna Chavez, Ophelia Edwards, Beverly Gilbert, Elizabeth Bittle and Jane King.

Cheschanay Girl Reserves met
Friday after school. Miss Robinson, Girl Reserve county secretary, directed several new camp songs. A discussion was held on the two Girl Reserve camps, Camp Torqua, at Catalina and Camp Osceola in the San Bernardino mountains.

Athletic Managers Meet
The athletic managers' meeting was held Tuesday noon in the P. E. building. A schedule for volleyball was made and will soon be put up. A set of rules governing the games was agreed on. Four will be the minimum number of players and 12 the maximum. One 15-point game will be played and if the game is not finished when the bell rings a two-point margin will be needed to win. All managers will be in charge of games.

The next meeting is to be concerned with intermural football. Acoustics Improved
The Willard school auditorium, recently repaired, is declared by George D. Newcomb, business manager of the board of education, to be in "much better condition, to be in much better condition. The repair work was done free of charge by Mr. Eley, architect of the school.

Assembly Program
Wednesday's assembly was the first held in the auditorium since the acoustics have been repaired. The program was opened by Miss Esther Jean Davis who led the flag salute. Introduced Miss deane of girls, introduced Miss Gwendolyn Pugh, who sang several numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Armstrong at the piano.

Julia Lathrop

Willard School Entertained
The Willard Boys' Glee club sang four delightful numbers in the Lathrop assembly, May 13. The boys presented a striking array attired in white duck trousers, white shirts, and blue neckties.

Immediately following the glee club presentation, Willard students presented "Sauce for the Gossips," clever one-act play of two scenes. The play brought out the usage of slang by the younger people of today, and how foolish the same slang words sound coming from the mouths of older people.

The program was prepared by the Willard music department. Telegraph Anniversary
Members of Miss H. Thrasher's occupations classes observed the one hundredth anniversary of the telegraph Monday. The 414 Division invited the 424 division to room three where 12 speeches were heard on various phases of the development of the telegraph and on men instrumental in its development.

Boys Do Repair Work

Dale Barker, Gene Miller, Ray Robinson and Jim Gross, H9 physical education students, have proven themselves unusually proficient in repairing playground benches and other playground equipment. Their latest repair job was on the girls' side of the lot. The dilapidated girls' playground bench was reconstructed this week.

Hiroshi Nitta, H9 student, has a method of making old broken ball bats not only usable, but as good as new. Coach Ferris Scott has appointed Hiroshi chairman of the physical education equipment repair squad because of his efficiency.

Return to School

Phil Dowds, Geraldine Gilbert, Dean Howells, Horace Hopkins, Billy Knight, Barbara and Betty Bradley number among Lathrop students just returning to school after several days' absence with colds and other slight illness.

Glee Clubs Present "Treasure Chest"
The combined Lathrop glee clubs presented "Treasure Chest" as Lathrop's part on the program given by the two junior high schools at the high school auditorium Thursday evening, May 19.

The story of "Treasure Chest" is collegiate in theme. Leaders of the Omega Phi Fraternity and the Mu Zeta sorority are sent on a fake treasure hunt by two non-Greek students. Ross Boyd, Jack Robinson, Elden Klingenberg, Winfred Gallienne played roles of fraternity leaders; Gwendolyn Griffin, Helen Trickey and Marjorie Winder were cast as sorority leaders; while Virginia Prichard and Robert Hunsaker interpreted the characters of "Plossy" and "Eugene," non-Greeks.

Miss Edith Cornell, Lathrop music department head, and Maxine Zollman Bryte, Lathrop music teachers, were directors.

PICKING ON LEE

FORT WORTH—A. J. Lee is beginning to believe he's an easy mark for thieves. For the 19th time he has been victimized, the last time being the theft of his second car. His grocery has been robbed 12 times, and his home five times. His first automobile was stolen some time ago.

ORANGETHORPE

ORANGETHORPE, May 20.—Glenn Landreth was host to the members of the Orangethorpe Comrade group at his home on West Orangethorpe avenue recently. Mrs. Landreth served home made cakes and chocolate following the meeting.

It was decided to form a ball team to compete with the other groups. Charles Butler is president of the club and had charge of the meeting, aided by Denver Kiser, leader. Present were Joe Neighbors, Roderick Koy, John Hermsdorf, Jim Butler, Charles Butler, Tom Nishimoto, Jim Talcott, Tom and Harold in Covey and the host, Glenn Landreth and Denver Kiser.

annual event, the meeting place being Irvine park.

A real estate deal of interest was the exchange of the orange ranch belonging to Mrs. Ida Mather, consisting of 51-2 acres at the corner of Gilbert and Houston streets, for a house and lot at 510 South Citron, Anaheim, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gregg. Mrs. Mather will remain on the property for the present.

THE FUTURE OF THE PRIMARIES

Considerable thought is being given to the primary system. It is a vast improvement over the old convention system, but there are few things which cannot be improved upon.

The primaries which have been held all over the country the past few months have in some places revealed minor defects. In some places the voter has been faced with a ballot not unlike a bedsheet, on which was printed the list of miscellaneous names of which he had never heard, and concerning which he knew nothing. A man may well be excused from participating in a primary election when he finds himself confronted with a mass of names which mean absolutely nothing to him.

The advocates of the short ballot have a plan worthy of consideration.

They would make most of the officers appointees, leaving to the people only the nomination and election of a very limited number of officials. There are others who advocate the English system of a close party organization for naming candidates for Parliament, who must advance a certain amount of money if their names are to appear on the ballot. Others may have their names placed upon the ballot by the deposit of a specific sum, generally large enough to cause hesitation at least. This money is returned to the candidate if a specific number of votes is received. Generally the number of votes specified is large enough to express a real desire on the part of a large group of electors for the candidate. If that number of votes is not received, the money deposited is forfeited. It is very certain that would eliminate many who now find a place on a primary ballot.

Without in any way invalidating the right of the people, some satisfactory plan could be devised that would maintain the primary system, and yet do away with its very serious defects. It is the first duty of those who believe in the fundamental idea of the primary system to advance such an idea. If it is not done, the matter of the continuance of the primary is only a question of time, and that time not so far away. The all but universal complaint must be considered.

Every vote cast in the average municipal election costs the taxpayers $1, says a political science expert. That's nothing to what they cost the candidates.

PUBLIC MEN AND THEIR SPEECHES

It used to be claimed that Mr. Coolidge wrote none of the speeches which he delivered as President. It was reported at one time that at a meeting of learned societies, Mr. Coolidge delivered an address in which the word "paleontological" occurred. The President, in reading the address, fell upon the word, juggled for a moment with the pronunciation of it, and finally decided to pass on leaving it unpronounced. (While it was said that it was clear evidence that he had not written the address, yet it is a fact that in writing most people use words which they do not employ in conversation, which might explain this incident.)

It is a well-known fact that every President in his tour of the country, especially as when President Taft and his predecessor, Mr. Roosevelt, went about in the campaign of 1912, speaking from the rear platform of a train, has a writer aboard who makes himself familiar with the story of every place at which he stops, and furnishes the President with some bit of local history which raises the President in the admiration of the local folk.

Now it is being circulated that the tariff attack used both by Al Smith and Gov. Roosevelt in some of their recent addresses, purporting to be their own creation, was really the work of a professor at Columbia University. The words spoken by ex-Gov. Smith were prepared for him by Prof. Lindsay Rogers. The notes were handed over by Prof. Rogers to his friend and colleague, Prof. Raymond Moley, who wrote them into a speech prepared for Gov. Roosevelt. This accounts for the exact parallelism of the language of Gov. Roosevelt and ex-Gov. Smith. The fact is, that almost every political hero of the hour has in his employ a clever newspaper man who either writes his speeches or provides him with necessary material. This may rob some political leaders of considerable glory, but it is nevertheless the fact.

"THE SYMPHONY OF SIX MILLION"

There has just appeared at the Fox Broadway theater a picture that should be seen by all the people. "The Symphony of Six Million" is a wonderful presentation of a fine theme,—of the value and power of a devoted life.

The story centers around a Jewish lad who grew up in the lower East Side of New York, in the squalid surroundings of the unfortunate and the poor. His sympathy and love for the people with whom he was associated, grew in him as he developed into manhood. He became a physician and surgeon, and without money consideration, devoted his entire life to the poor, to the ones he loved, to the children and the needy of the Ghetto.

Over-persuaded by a member of his family, with the argument of looking after his aging father and mother, he was induced to leave his office in the home of his parents, and move into an up-town office where he quickly attained fame and a lucrative practice. But his money was received from those who did not need him, and the needy, with whom he had worked, were neglected.

We then had the picture of a successful practitioner, surrounded by all the appointments and restrictions that made it difficult, and almost impossible, for any but the wealthy to reach him. He suddenly awakens, through a stroke which his father suffered, to the fact that his hand has lost its cunning, that his mind has lost its vision, and that he has lost his soul.

He "comes back," but at what a price! He returns, and is restored to the joy and happiness of a useful life. It illustrates with tremendous force and power, with humor and with pathos, and with a gripping presentation of the surroundings in detail, the truth that was emphasized by another Jew who loved humanity and who walked and talked and worked with the halt, the lame and the blind of Galilee, when He said: "He who is greatest among you is he who serves."

The short subjects and comics were not out of harmony with the picture as presented. It was more than an evening's entertainment. It was educational, impressive, and valuable. Should it return again to Santa Ana, we would urge every person who can to see this wonderful picture. We want to congratulate the management and the producers for this work.

A CORRECTION

We desire to correct a statement that we made in an editorial yesterday.

In discussing the beer bills, we stated that Johnson voted against the beer bills, and that Senator Shortridge did not vote. This, we found, is not true. Senator Shortridge voted for the 2.75 per cent beer. Johnson voted against this.

This is important, as it has been a question as to what Senator Shortridge's attitude is. In this vote he lined up with the "wets" against the "drys."

TWO THOUSAND YEARS FROM NOW

There are plenty of things to worry about these days, other than the theory advanced by Dr. O. Gunnar Erdmann of the University of Stockholm, that within two thousand years there will be a return of the great glaciers. There have been times when his theory would have caused some people to worry, but not now. "Sweet are the uses of adversity." There are other things to think about.

Admits Mistake

When Columbia University, one of the largest and wealthiest in the United States, expelled a student editor because he criticized college football and declared the university dining hall was run for a profit, there were hundreds of protests from those who believe in the freedom of speech and the press. Columbia was condemned, derided, and abused by writers in many journals and it was noted there was no adequate explanation.

What has not been treated with the same generous spirit is the fact Columbia had a second thought and reinstated the young editor. Though he immediately resigned, the significance of the action remains. The Des Moines Register, giving Columbia credit for admitting a mistake, adds that it would have looked better "if the reinstatement of Reed Harris, the editor, had been made before, rather than after, the statement of Harris' attorney that he was ready to serve papers in a $100,000 suit against the university."

But the generous interpretation, that paper holds, is that Columbia is not too proud to admit a mistake and indicates that neither the dismissing of students for their opinions nor the dismissing of students without giving them a hearing is intended to be the institution's policy.

"President Nicholas Murray Butler can now resume his useful hobby of advising the statesmen of the world on the operation of their governments without so much risk of being told to liberalize his own house first."

Celtic Jewelry in Palestine

Gold earrings of Irish origin and of about the year 1400 B. C. have been found on the site of ancient Gaza, one of the five cities of the Philistines. No less an authority than Sir Flinders Petrie has suggested their Irish source, yet the connection between Ireland and the Bronze Age and Palestine, of about the time the Hebrew tribes were battering their way into Canaan from the west, need not be so close as first appears. We do not have to imagine Irish wanderers or settlers in Palestine anticipating by many centuries the migration of the Ten Lost Tribes to Great Britain, as believed by some.

It is enough to fit the evidence of the gold earrings were brought from Ireland to Gaza by a non-Irishman. He would naturally be a Phoenician sailor who, while in port at what was later Dublin or Cobh, bought the trinkets as a gift for his wife or sweetheart at home in the Phoenician coastland. The Phoenician ships at that time roamed beyond the Straits of Gibraltar, a circumstance which induced the late Bill Nye in his "Comic History of England" to remark that the country was from the earliest times a great financial center, the Phoenicians coming there for their tin.

THE BETTER PART OF VALOR

I love the raging Alpine storms
Which bellow in their Titan wrath
Where glaciers rear their rugged forms
Across the mountain climber's path.
I love to look at lofty heights
And cloudy summits, wreathed in snow;
These things compose my chief delights—
When they are in a picture show.

I love to hear a lion roar—
A sound which makes some people quake—
I'm always eager to explore
The snake-infested tropic brake,
Or gaze at herds of elephants
Which through the sultry jungle swing,
Especially when they advance
With loud and savage trumpeting.

I love a noisy fuellade
And all the slam and bang and din
When hands of evil bandits raid
A "speke" and smash the windows in,
While everybody on the street
Decamps in terror from the scene.
But I have found it more discreet
To do this at a "speake" screen.

Adventure tangles in my blood;
I have no diffidence at all
In harking to the heavy thud
Of blackjacks in a rowdy brawl.
My ardor for a brutal fight
I make no effort to conceal;
I see one almost every night
But always in a "newy" reel.

Note Book
by Lee Pape

Today before supper I was out playing with the fellows, and the first thing I knew it was so late I was the only one left out, thinking Heck, I'll be late for supper again and it's too soon to be late again.

Meaning on account of the last time I was late being last night, and I quick started to walk home, thinking, if I had a exter good excuse it mite be all rite, but I haven't.

And I started trying to think of one, all I could think of being I didn't know what time it was, being the bummeest excuse of all on account of always making pop madder than not saying anything.

And I thawt, Heck, if this was only the middle of winter I mite be able to say the pavement was so slippery I had to go as slow as funeral, only heck its the middle of spring.

And I kept on hurry up going home, thinking, I mite say Mrs. Winkle asked me to go a errand and I was too polite to say no, only then he mite want to know when she asked me and I'd haff to say it was lunchtime on my way home from school.

Wich it was, and I thawt, I mite say the fellows kepp me back by keeping on saying, Aw what's the hurry, what's the hurry?

Being proved naturally bum one, me having proved it before by trying it, and when I got home supper was half ways over, pop saying, Can I believe my eyes, I thawt you'd moved away from the neighborhood. I'm late, I said.

O, you've noticed it, pop said. Have you any excuse, even a bad one? he said, and I said, No sir, and pop said, Then it's the first time in all the years we've been waiting for you. This is indeed an historical occasion and shall be fittingly celebrated. You shall have 2 slices of pie, if we happen to have pie, he said.

Wich we didn't, having rice pudding without raisins, one helping being plenty.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

A PLAN FOR ECONOMIC STABILITY

In a stimulating volume called

Investing in Wages, an able business man, Albert L. Deane, assisted by Henry Kittredge Norton, a specific and detailed plan for economic stabilization is advanced.

Its outstanding points are:

(1) The creation of a reserve fund of buying power through a general contribution on the basis of a determined percentage of payrolls throughout the nation.

(2) The provision of machinery for keeping a close tab on the equilibrium between production and consumption in each industry through the continuous gathering and prompt analysis of the necessary industrial statistics.

(3) The enforcement through governmental authority of an equitable determination of the contributions to the reserve fund of buying power.

(4) The enforcement through governmental authority of the regular submission and distribution of the necessary industrial statistics.

(5) The fixing through governmental authority of standards of sound equilibrium between production and consumption as points of reference.

(6) The automatic use of the buying power reserve fund to support the consuming power of the workers in any industry in which overproduction appears until such time as equilibrium can be established in that industry. These six points give the essence of the plan.

The plan is proposed for national and state legislation. Its authors do not believe voluntary agreements can be trusted to effect a nation-wide policy. And obviously a plan to be effective must be nation-wide. They, therefore, project a plan, both comprehensive and compulsory, and invoke legislation for its installment.

They propose further the creation of a National Employment Reserve board dedicated to the task of stabilizing purchasing power throughout the nation.

They promise further the creation under uniform laws of state employment reserve boards to be correlated with the national employment reserve board. These state boards would directly administer the plan in the several states.

The national board would be a sort of a federal reserve board for employment and purchasing power.

These are the bare bones of the plan upon which I think it is worth-while for the readers of these articles to set their minds.

Out of plans like this will ultimately come—must ultimately come—some new agency of control if our future is to win the prize of stabilized growth.

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

Children are by nature intolerant. They are strict individualists. Their own business is what counts to them. Their own ways are always the best ways. What they think is always the only way to think. That is the way nature starts them. They must first consider self preservation. It is for us to teach consideration for other people and tolerance of all opinions.

One of the family sports is criticism of all and sundry. A family gathering is usually
